BEAVER VALLEY.

New Brighton in the Present Day.

A RECORD OF ITS BUSINESS ENTERPRISES.

A Thriving, Busy, Bustling Town.

"Surface Indications" of Prosperity.

Bringing the ... notes on New Brighton down to the present time, we find one of the most prosperous and pleasant little cities in the valley. In some respects its usually energetic business character is somewhat dimmed by causes that cannot be more than temporary, and that cannot to any great degree do the place any injury. The factories, mills and shops of various kinds, are being worked to their full capacity, and on the surface, at least, there is every indication of the most cheering prosperity. Employment is given to hundreds of intelligent and capable men and women, who, in turn, bless the town with the means obtained for the labor. A brief reference to the various industries will give a more correct knowledge of what New Brighton is, and of what it is capable, than any mere statements on my part could possibly give. First in order, as being probably the most interesting factory in town, is placed the "Keystone Woolen Mills," founded and put in working order in the early history of the town, by Messrs. B. & W. Wilde. The history of this factory has been a very interesting one, having been several times a victim to the flames, the last time being in 1869, when the largest of the buildings was burned to the ground. It was immediately replaced by a fine brick structure, which has so far escaped the fate of its predecessors. The work done by this company cannot be excelled, and especially have they done good work in the class of shawls manufactured by them. About one hundred and twenty hands have been in the employ of the company, giving work to a large number of ladies and girls. With proper management this factory ought to be a great success.

The "Pioneer Flax Mills" were established here in the year 1850, and are now run by Messrs. Bentley & Gerwig. This is the only establishment of its kind between the Allegheny Mountains and the Pacific coast. The goods produced consist of all kinds of yarns and twines, plain and colored, and all kinds of small cordage. The amount of stock used is about $500,000 annually, of which the greater quantity is flax,—both domestic and foreign, the ordinary qualities being made from domestic and the fine qualities from foreign, especially Dutch and Irish. The number of hands employed is usually about sixty, a portion of whom are girls. The motive power is the water power of the Beaver river, which has supplied them so well that they have not lost a single day, except holidays, for the last two years. Their machinery is mostly imported from England. The heating of the building is done by steam, making the works very comfortable. The long experience, the industry and enterprise of this firm have given their goods a high reputation and a very wide circulation. They are shipping goods all over the country from coast to coast. It is encouraging also to notice that the demand for their twines and yarns keeps pace with their constantly increasing capacity. A few more establishments like this would make the town one of the most desirable in Western Pennsylvania. Adjoining this establishment is the Tuttle Machine shop, engaged in the making of machines, &c., and which is enjoying a good trade. In the foundry line there is also the firm of Messrs. Merrick & Co., one of the most enterprising and successful foundries in this section of the county. It has only been in existence about eight years, but in that time has built up a fine trade. They manufacture grate fronts of all kinds, fenders, summer pieces, machinery, patent grates, &c. The foundry is located in the old ... works, and has in employ at present fourteen hands. There is also in the machine line the Penn Bridge and Machine Works, carried on by Messrs. T. B. White & Sons. Mr. T. B. White is one of the most favorably known bridge builders in all this region, and has been engaged in the business since 1852. In 1865, at the close of the war, when his sons returned to the arts of peace, he became associated with them in the business, until the demand for iron bridges became so great that, in 1868, the present works were started, and the building of iron bridges entered into. They have in employ thirty-five hands and manufacture iron, wood and combination bridges, railroad frogs, switch stands, fittings, &c. Their works were very materially enlarged last spring, to permit them doing all kinds of repair and jobbing work, in addition to their regular business.

They are doing a very extensive business, and are kept well up with orders. May their business still more enlarge, until their reputation shall have become national. A very interesting business is carried on by Mr. Charles Coale, in the manufacture of Japan varnish, which was brought into public notice just after the beginning of the late war. It has not only been a very extensive, but also a very profitable business to the discoverer. His productions have run up as high as $22,000 per year, from which an exceedingly snug income was derived. Of course, while it has given the manufacturer a good return, the means so gained have helped much in improving a part of the town. Well, may his income and shadow never grow less. Within the limits of the town, there is also a very successful pottery in operation, it being the only one that utilizes the clay in the valley. The New Brighton Flower Pot and Terra Cotta Works are under the proprietorship of Messrs. T. Elverson, Son & Co. The business was commenced by Mr. Elverson in 1862, and has now become one of the fixtures of the valley. They have employed twenty hands and make all kinds of flower pots, garden and lawn vases, flue pipe, chimney tops, covering tile for green house flues, &c. The coal and clay they have in abundance on their own premises, and so far they have but tapped the immense vein of clay that runs all through the valley.

Located on the river is found the shops of H. Fetter & Sons, who are quite extensively engaged in making sash, doors, mouldings, &c., and of course are having a good run of trade, as they are gentlemen who understand their business in every particular. Near them is the Planing Mill of Messrs. McPherson & McClain, young gentlemen who fully understand their business and merit the patronage of the people. They have had charge of the mill but a short time and have had not time yet to establish a reputation, which will come in time.

There is also a manufactory of spokes and fellows, under a patent that has threatened to revolutionize the wheel business. It is also a comparatively new enterprise, though it is said to be in a fair way to make a great success. The Cutlery Works, under unwise management, have suspended for the present, and are not considered as one of the industries of the place. On the bank of the river there is located a very extensive scouring establishment, and which is receiving a splendid patronage from the people. A dye establishment has also established a reputation for doing superior work. It is in short of New Brighton, that what they do in the way of manufacturing, producing, &c., is done in the most approved style. It is safe to admit this fact, and it speaks well for all concerned. Three flouring mills are constantly employed, being those of Mr. Wade Wilson, Klein, Mellon & Douglas, gentlemen who understand their business and accordingly have plenty of it to do. The brands of flour sent out from these mills undoubtedly stand at the head of the trade. If as well advertised, they would soon eclipse the fancy brands that every now and then startle the world by their flaming and aggressive advertisements. The schedule of productive business is completed by mentioning the six brick-yards that are operated here. Three of them—Messrs. C. K. Chamberlin & Co., Charles Coale and John Glass—are engaged in the manufacture of fire-brick, while Mr. E. Smith, McManagle and Paden manufacture red brick; and although they do a large business in their season, they but touch the great fields of material that lie and wait for the day when they shall be utilized.

Brighton's Business Houses.

In business houses the people of this town are certainly favored. There are "enough for all and enough for each," and possibly too many for their own good. Three excellent banks supply the wherewithal for short business men. The National Bank of Beaver County is one of the most substantial institutions of the kind in the State, and a good investment too. Mr. John Miner, one of our oldest business men, is its President, and the cashier, Mr. Edward Hoopes, one of the most favorably known gentlemen in Beaver Valley. He comes of the good old pioneer stock, his father being surveyor of the original New Brighton, and associated with the earliest of those who undertook to make use of the resources of the valley. The banking house of Messrs. R. E. & H. Hoopes, sons of the cashier, has the best business of any bank in the valley. They enjoy the confidence of their business associates, and the house is known as a thoroughly reliable one in every particular. Messrs. G. S. Barker & Co. is a comparatively new firm, yet is already doing a large business. They are clever, accommodating and thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and will ultimately reach the top in valley banking. There are two hotels in town and more needed. In the department of justice the rights of the people are zealously guarded by five gentlemen, whose shingles call to the passing public for a recognition of their invaluable services. Of course they are moderately well patronized by those who need their services. The health of the town is under the supervision of eight disciples of Esculapius, and the god of fortune seems to favor each.

The number of stores, groceries, etc., is "too tedious to mention." They are seen from the well loaded shelves of the largest establishment to the modest little candy shop. Nothing more in this line is needed for the prosperity of the town. Three thriving drug stores are doing each a good business.

The only lack probably in the way of business is a larger number of producing establishments. A town can't live on stores alone, nor even on the prestige of past business successes, but must give employment to the people, or close up business.

There is enough business for the present population, but no further addition of working people to the place is desirable until avenues of employment are opened.

The people do not always seem to realize this fact, and hence the senseless and ruinous cry that we want more people to use and not produce.

A few more non-producers in this town would necessitate either a removal on the part of some or suffering on the part of many. Give to them a few more factories, a few more shops, and peace and plenty will smile on this goodly town in times to come, as they have done in the past and as they are doing in the present.

OAKDALE.

Two Gala Nights—Literary Entertainment by the "Good Will" and "Hawthorne" Literary Societies of the Oakdale Classical and Normal Institute—Sparkling Essays—Brilliant Orations—Magnificent Tableaux—A Feast of Reason—Presentations, &c.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

The two literary societies connected with the Oakdale Classical and Normal Institute gave a grand literary entertainment on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, July 1st and 2d. Entertainments of this kind never fail to draw out the people of Oakdale, and fill up the fine large hall of the village, but on this occasion the people excelled themselves in the way of turning out, probably because they had got an inkling of the magnificent literary feast that was in store for them.

The evenings of the Literary Entertainment of Oakdale Classical and Normal Institute are to the people of Oakdale and the surrounding country what the Fourth of July and Burgettstown Fair days are to "the rest of mankind." They are gala evenings on which the young folks don their best clothes and sweetest smiles, and the old folks meet and clasp the hands of their friends and neighbors and ask about the "craps," etc, O, 'tis a joyful time!

The exercises of the first evening were opened with prayer by Rev. Shaw, and then the feast began.

Miss Alfie McNall gave the Salutatory in fine style. And the Salutatory wasn't the same thing we had heard over and over, about welcoming the audience, climbing the hill of science, etc. No, it was out of the common groove, and as one of the most intelligent citizens of Oakdale expressed it, "it was the best thing of the kind we ever listened to."

Essay—"Luxurious living." Kate S. Neely. The reader compared the manner of living in "ye olden time" with that of the present, and painted some excellent morals. Well read.

Select oration—"A Transition State." Jennie Robb. As Billy Shakspeare once remarked, "Well spoken, with good accent and good discretion."

Original oration—"The Season of Youth," G. W. McLean. A fine production by a good orator.

Selection—"Over the Hill to the Poor House," Jennie B. Perkins. This poem of Carleton's was recited in a touching manner. The lady was evidently slightly embarrassed at the commencement, but this soon wore off, and while she personated the old mother who had had "the cold shoulder" turned to her by her sons and daughters, the utmost silence prevailed, and all listened with the deepest interest.

Dialogue—"The Hypochondriac," laughable, but not performed as well as it might have been. Dialoguists should endeavor to speak so as to be heard, and also to keep their backs to the back of the stage, and not to the audience. Mr. Campbell, as "Pat Mullen," was excellent.

Tableau—"Paul and Virginia." Exquisitely beautiful.

Original Oration—"Republican Governments," Samuel E. Burchfield. A very creditable production.

Essay—"A Ramble for Encouragement," Lauretta Lyon. A very beautiful essay, and read in such a way as to make glad the big heart of the audience. The people heard and applauded.

"The Scrap Book," Rebecca E. Tannehill. This was a perfect gem. The "Book" abounded in brilliant articles of sentiment, and in refined and sparkling humor. Read in a faultless manner.

Select oration—"The Polish Boy." Anna McClurg. A pleasing performance.

Essay—"The Young Man of the Period." Annie R. Morton. A desperate drive at the fops of the day. Her satire was keen. It would not have been amiss if the reader had glanced a moment at "The Girl of the Period," and held up to view the outrageous and abominable bustle which she wears.

Original oration—"Onward" John A. McKnight. The speech was good and the speaker was rewarded with boquets.

Tableau—"Weaving the Web of ... gem of beauty.

Original oration—"The Man in the Moon." Jennie Anderson. The old chap who inhabits "pale Luna" was pictured and painted in an attractive and pleasing way.

Essay—"Woman as the Former of Man's Character." M. A. Houston. A chaste, well written essay.

Recitation—"The Beautiful Snow," Kate L. Moss. A pleasing performance.

Essay—"Human Nature." Robbie M. Walker. A scholarly production.

Original Oration—"Woman's Rights," T. W. Conway. An exceedingly fine oration, delivered in excellent style.

Original Oration—"Crossing Rubicons," Mollie McQueety. Excellent. The speaker gave her thoughts in a clear and forcible manner, and in a way that made the audience rejoice. An audience will not grow weary while listening to such an orator as Miss McQ.

The gem of the second evening, and indeed the entire entertainment, was the recitation of "Hiawatha" by Miss Edith Douthett, of Allegheny City. It is but seldom we have the pleasure of listening to anything so exquisitely beautiful as was this performance. During the recitation the curtain was frequently drawn, and the tableaux or picture described by the fair speaker were presented to the audience.

The above are only some of the performences of the entertainment. All were good, and the teachers and students deserve unbounded credit for the excellent literary feast they prepared. Too much cannot be said in praise of the tableaux. They certainly excelled anything ever attempted in "these diggins."

The "Robinson Band," of which Mr. Will G. Kelso is leader, was present and discoursed excellent music. In addition to this, several songs were given, under the direction of Miss Ella C. Walker, the present teacher of music in the Oakdale Institute.

Near the close of the exercises, the County Superintendent, Prof. A. T. Douthett, presented professional certificates to twenty of the Oakdale students who had passed the "fiery ordeal." "A scene not on the bill" was also presented. Miss Sadie M. Perkins, in a neat speech, and in behalf of the students of the Institute, made some very valuable presents to the principals, Prof. A. P. Patterson and Mrs. A. T. Douthett, and to the Assistant Principal, Rev. Silas Cooke. The replies were beautiful—that of Mrs. D. more than beautiful, elegant is the word.

County Superintendent Douthett stated that it had been rumored, and not without foundation, that Mrs. D. would sever her connection with the Institute at the close of the present term. She had, however, decided to remain and retain her present position during the coming year. This announcement was hailed by the audience with the greatest applause and demonstrations of delight, and showed the deep hold this estimable lady has upon the hearts of the students and the people.

The next term of the Institute will open on Tuesday, September 2d.

Yours, truly,
O. PRIDDLE STYX.

VIENNA.

The American Department.

A Vienna correspondent of the Boston Globe says the American department at the Exposition is a queer-looking place. In the first place, there are not goods enough to fill it; and secondly, there are not enough of a kind to render much classification practicable. Accordingly one will see a collection of non-explosive oil bottles sandwiched between a huge pile of cotton and soda-water apparatus, extensive enough to quench a million's thirst; while the cabinet organs and the coal specimens, the dentist chair, and the bottles of Mississippi water are in much closer relations than they were on the other side of the ocean. But with all its peculiarities, it cannot be doubted that the American department is exceedingly interesting to German visitors. Tired of the endless succession of laces, jewelry, silks and diamonds, they are glad to see something which denotes inventive skill, and without calling up a feeling of national prejudice, an American can truly assert that this will be found in our department.

The attendance still continues small for an exhibition of this magnitude. For the four half-florin days—Sundays, Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays—the attendance of paying spectators averages 50,000, on Sunday the number reaching 70,000 or more. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, florin days, the average number falls below 15,000. Up to the 19th of June 1,499,000 had paid admission, which gives an average of 10,000 from the opening. The number of officers', exhibitors' and workmen's tickets are nearly 20,000, and nearly all are used daily.

CUBA.

Strength of the Insurgent Army.

A Cuban letter, published in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, gives a statement of the strength of the Cuban insurgent army in the field at 15,000 men. This force is said to be divided into five corps, one located in each of the five Republican States of Camaguay, Puerto Principe, Oriente, Cinco Villas and Remedios. The largest corps are the one in Oriente, 4,600 strong, and the one in Camaguay, 8,300. The cavalry number 2,700 men, and there is but one force of artillery mentioned, a detachment of 100 men in the State of Oriente. The letter says the want of artillery is a great draw-back, there being but twenty-three iron cannon in the entire army, which are aided by the rather doubtful assistance of forty-six other guns made of hides. In Cinco Villas and Remedios there are no artillery at all, all the guns received or captured being sent to the other three States. The rebellion extends through portions of the five Cuban States above mentioned, and the insurgents have a Republican form of Government modelled after that of this country, there being a President and Vice-President, a Congress of twenty Senators and thirty-eight Representatives, and a Cabinet of four Secretaries, one for each of the Departments of State, War, Treasury and the Interior. There is also a Chief Justice, who is the head of the Judiciary.

THE year closed at the University at Lewisburg, Pa., has been fruitful in good works, a good number of students in attendance, and the finances sound and promising. Last year's income was $39,519.00, and the expense $38,507.90. IN the vicinity of New Lisbon, as we learn from the Patriot, is a small bug at work destroying apple trees. The bug is about one eight of an inch long and half as large in diameter. It is an ugly looking thing, and when put under a magnifying glass resembles a porcupine in general appearance. It is black, and its body is covered with protuberances out of which extend minute feathers. It does not appear to mark the foliage of the tree or sting the limb, yet it is certain death to the limb upon which it works, deadening limbs several inches in circumference.

Story of a Conspiracy to Rob the Shah of Persia.

NEW YORK, July 14.—A London correspondent publishes a story of a conspiracy to rob the Shah of Persia of his jewels. The parties consisted of three remarkable men, criminals of the first water, yet who were totally unknown to the London police, and indeed had often been compromised but had never been convicted of any felony. They were Colonel Algernon Bigner Hawkins, the leader of the party and engineer or the conspiracy; Serafino (his other name is not known), a Jew diamond broker of Marseilles, but formerly of Salonica, and Baron Narses Migraditch Dadian, formerly seraff, or money lender, of Aleppo, but lately of London and Paris, an Eutychian Armenian, and said to be connected with the eminent Oglou Dadian family, which so long has managed the finances of the Sublime Porte. The fourth and last actor in the conspiracy was Toby Spring, a first-class burglar and safe-blower. Toby Spring was left in London, while the others went to Moscow and managed to get Narses attached in some capacity to the Shah's suite. Hawkins then hastened to London, rented a handsome furnished house in the neighborhood of Perman Square, hired a retinue of flunkies, and gave himself out for an American nabob, who had come to spend a few weeks in the great city, and especially to give some recitations to his daughter just finishing her education at a fashionable mansion on the Loire. It had been designed to commit the robbery while the Shah was surrounded by his retinue and guards in Buckingham Palace, but this idea was given up for the safer one of inducing the Shah to visit the house, and while there to get possession of his jewels. According to the story, an appointment was made for the Shah to visit Hawkins at his house, his so-called daughter being the attraction. When Narses was made aware of this success he got intoxicated by smoking opium, and was seen in that condition on the street. A detective followed that the Persian might not come to harm, and saw him go to Hawkins' office, knock for admittance, and that the door was opened by Toby Spring, whom he recognized. Thinking that Narses had fallen among thieves, the detective got assistance and forced his way into the house. Toby was secured; also Serafino. Hawkins made his escape, but Narses, in his fright and delirium, made straight for the river and was drowned. Serafino made a partial confession and surrendered a quantity of burglar's tools, and the plot was disclosed. The heaviest burden of the cheat fell on poor General Hadji Dschellalleddinholy, who has been permanently disgraced, and was sent home to Persia by the next steamer of the Peninsular and Oriental line.

House of Lords.

LONDON, June 14.—In the Chamber of Peers this evening Lord Cranmore read the Archbishop's reply to the Church Association, showing a tendency in the Church of England towards Catholicism, and moved that a committee be appointed to consider what legislation is needed to check the evil. He supported the motion in a long speech, in the course of which he read passages from the petition of four hundred and eighty clergymen of the established Church, asking for the appointment of confessors, and the restoration of other Popish practices which the Reformation abolished. He wanted to know by what casuistry English clergymen holding such doctrines retained their positions in the Church.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said the noble Lord had stated the question fairly. It was no wonder that popular feeling was working upon this subject. There was good cause for alarm The power of the bishop to remedy abuses should be increased.

The Bishop of Salisbury declared that the positions taken by Lord Cranmore were unassailable; but he thought the motion inopportune. The confessional was so contrary to British feeling that the attempt to introduce it could only be considered wild and visionary. The four hundred and eighty-three clergymen who had signed the petition constituted only four and one-half per cent. of the clerical body of the Church.

The Archbishop of York expressed the opinion that whatever was done in this matter should come from the Church, not the Legislature. He, therefore, was opposed to the motion; but he declared he would make every exertion to prevent the prayer book from becoming Romanized. The motion was then negatived and their Lordships rose.

House of Commons.

In the House of Commons Mr. Lawson gave notice that he should move next week that the ancient custom of expelling strangers from the galleries be abolished, except on certain rare occasions.

Mr. Mitchell Henry, member for Galway county, gave notice of an early motion looking to the publication of faithful and impartial official reports of the proceedings of the House. He claimed that the reports as at present made were partisan in their character and intensely hostile to the Catholic religion.

FRANCE.

President MacMahon Interviewed.

NEW YORK, July 14.—President MacMahon, in conversation with a correspondent, says: "The real government of the country is now vested in the ministry, and I am firmly convinced that the only change which they will introduce into the Republic will be to carry out the programme which the late Government proved itself incapable of doing. We are not impolitic to take any steps similar to those taken by the Empire; but everything that can be done to insure the Pope's safety and the necessary liberties of all shall be done. It is directly against the interests of Italy to expel the Pope from his dominions, for were he obliged to take refuge in a foreign country, the Catholics all over the world would unite in crying shame against Italy, and public opinion would be excited against the Italian Government to such an extent that not only would our interference become compulsory, but it might also become the signal for an European war, from which Italy has little to hope and everything to fear. In accepting the Presidency I did not look into the future, but only to the right and left, where I saw men of every shade of political opinion lead to tear each other to pieces. The necessity of saving the army, our only hope for the maintenance of our country in the rank to which it belongs, out of this hideous scramble for power and profit, was the uppermost thought in my mind when the offer of the Presidency was made to me. To reorganize the army and make it but to work for French liberty ought to be the aim of every true Frenchman. There is no reason why the present regime in its amended constitutional form, with a military executive, who should reign over the country and rule over the army, should not become established in France. When the words empire and republic become synonymous with discipline, every citizen a soldier, and every soldier the servant of the Republic, there will be as little strife and wrangling in the country as to who shall be Minister, as there is at present as to who shall be Marshal."

HALIFAX.

The Steamship City of Washington Disaster.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 14.—The steamer M. A. Starr arrived from Port Le Bear yesterday afternoon with the captain, officers and crew of the steamer City of Washington, and one hundred and forty steerage passengers who had been left behind on Thursday. The latter were immediately transferred to the steamer Somerset and sailed for Boston. One of the passengers, an Irish woman, was taken in labor on board the Starr, and gave birth to a child shortly after being carried on board the Somerset.

Captain Phillips and officers and some of the crew remain to give testimony at the official investigation. The remainder will go to England in the Nestorian to-morrow.

An official inquiry was commenced this morning. There is nothing new to report from the wreck. A cabin passenger, Captain Hammond, says there was thorough discipline, and that a good watch was kept during the entire voyage. There were always two officers on the bridge and two men on the look-out. He is of the opinion that the disaster was due altogether to the deviation of the compass, as the ship's course was the correct one. The statement of Col. Parnell that there was lack of discipline, cursing, swearing and confusion at the time the ship struck and after the passengers landed, Captain Hammond pronounces untrue.

SPAIN.

War Meetings.

MADRID, July 14.—The successes of the Carlists and the outbreak and atrocities at Alcoy have awakened a strong feeling against the insurgents, and war meetings have been held in the provinces. At Barcelona a large meeting was held last night.

The Insurrection in Cartagena.

MADRID, July 14.—The insurgents in Cartagena are masters of the entire town, with the exception of the arsenal. It is feared that the latter cannot hold out long, and, with the ship in the dock, will fall into the hands of the insurgents. Centreras is reported to be the leader of the insurrection.

The Minister of War has left Madrid for Cartagena, but at last accounts was unable to proceed beyond the station at Palmas.

Edicts Annulled.

MADRID, July 14.—The Spanish Government has promulgated a decree annulling all the edicts of Sequel.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, July 14, 1873.

The Howard Investigation.

The following statement is based on information from an official source: The accounts of Gen. Howard and his officers show a deficit of eleven thousand dollars, though only a small portion is in the name of Gen. Howard. He admits he has the balance, six thousand dollars, which he is ready to pay over to the proper officers. Nearly one-half of the deficit is charged on account of subordinates formerly on duty in the west. Letters have been received from colored men who served in the army and navy, stating they have received no bounty, though in some cases the accounts show to the contrary. It will require an investigation to ascertain whether forged entries have been made, or the statements in the letters are false. All accounts have to undergo a further examination by the Controllers, and these figures may be charged either for or against Howard should those officers differ from others in the construction of the various laws bearing upon the subject. All agree that there has been some dishonesty on the part of the subordinates, though it is not believed the defalcation will amount to as much as is generally supposed.

The 20 Per Cent. Increase.

The ninety days allowed by law for the Government to appeal to the Supreme Court from the decision of the Court of Claims on about five hundred cases of the twenty per cent. increase allowed by the act of 1867 to civil employes of the Government in Washington expired on Saturday, and no appeal having been taken, the claimants will now have their accounts audited. If the Comptroller decides that the claims are payable out of the appropriation of this year, they will be paid at once, but if he should decide they are payable out of the appropriation of last year, Congress will be called upon to make up the deficiency, as the appropriation of last year falls short of the required amount to pay them about $25,000.

Spain Restoring Property Seized in Cuba for Political Offences.

The Department of State is informed by a cable telegram from our Minister at Madrid that the Spanish Government has issued a decree rescinding all embargoes and ordering the immediate restoration of all property heretofore seized for political offences in Cuba.

MICHIGAN.

The Grand Rapids Fire.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 14.—One of the most appalling facts about the fire was the rapidity with which it spread. It seemed mad from the first. The smoke from the Bridge Street House barn, in which the fire commenced, rolled up in dark and frightful columns, looking as though it came from the mouth of hell, and before the few who had gathered there had time to express their wonder the flames burst out and seemed to leap across Kent street to the east, and seized the Grand Rapids City Mills on the west. In an instant the mill and half a dozen houses were in flames. There was no power on earth that could stop its rapid progress. The engines were very soon on the ground, but what water they could throw upon the flames had no more effect than though it had been thrown from a spoon. The fire fiend was abroad and seemed to laugh at the herculean efforts of the firemen. The fire rushed, leaped and drove on like mad, and stopped not until it had swept out of existence every thing in its way. It stopped when its work of destruction was done—when there were no more buildings. The total losses amount to $163,148.

POLITICAL.

Anti-Monopoly Convention in Des Moines, Iowa.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—A dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, says an Anti-Monopoly Convention held there on Saturday nominated a full County ticket, elected delegates to the State Convention, and passed resolutions declaring for no support to any man for office who is not known to be in full and earnest sympathy with the producer and manufacturer and opposed to monopolies, also declaring that the doctrine of vested rights by railroad corporations, which exempt them from legislative control, has no place in the jurisprudence of a free people, demanding a reform in the salary of public officers, denouncing the back pay grab, and the President for signing the law, and demanding its repeal, and demanding political reform and the strictest economy in State and county affairs. It also invites all persons to join this movement.

Four Young Men Drowned.

BALTIMORE, July 14.—About six o'clock this afternoon, in the river ten miles below the city, off Willow Grove, a squall struck and capsized a sail boat containing seven young men, four of whom, Miller Spence, aged 17, Jacob Andrews, aged 21, Baldwin Nilson, aged 18, and George Cook, aged 20, were drowned.

The Goodrich Murder—The Conduct of the Murderess in Jail — Murderers Arraigned—Refusal of the Board of Aldermen to Act upon the Mayor's Nominations—Presents to the Law Institute.

NEW YORK, July 14, 1873.

The Goodrich Murder.

Lizzie Lloyd King, alias Kate Stoddard, the murderess of Charles Goodrich, slept soundly in King's county jail last night. The leading papers were furnished her at her request to-day, and she read all which they contained in reference to her trial. Some of the statements, she remarked, were incorrect, but she did not particularize them. For a time she appeared in a rather melancholy mood, but subsequently brightened up and appeared very cheerful. She conversed some time with Fanny Hyde, the murderess of George W. Watson, whom she considerably resembles. They spend the greater part of the time in each other's company. The excitement in Brooklyn over the case is unabated and it is the topic of conversation in every house and upon every corner. This morning Miss King's effects, with the exception of a number of letters and articles of the deceased found in her possession, were sent to the jail. The watch, pocket book, rings, &c, were handed to the District Attorney, and will be used as evidence on the trial. The trial, however, will not take place in three months, as it will be September before the next Grand Jury will be empannelled.

Miss Palm, the affianced of Goodrich, had a long interview with the murderess to-day. The detective, Miss Handley, is still in search of Roscoe, as is also Lucette Meyers.

Sensational Reports Exploded.

The sensational reports of foul play in the death of Miss Willett are fully exploded. The body bears no evidence of murder, and the affair is simply a case of an eccentric old lady living all alone and dying without attendance. The remains have been entrusted to her nephew for burial.

The Excise Law.

The Excise Commissioners stated that the announcement of any specified time for the enforcement of the Sunday liquor law is wholly unauthorized. The Brooklyn Excise Board was disbanded to-day, and its duties turned over to the Police Commissioners, by virtue of the new charter.

Refusal to Act upon the Mayor's Nominations.

The Board of Aldermen to-day again refused to take action upon the Mayor's nominations for Police Justices. Papers were served upon the Board in suits to recover some $60,000 by contractors for opening Madison avenue, unpaid by the Comptroller.

How the Money Goes.

Bills for medical attendance on George Francis Train, aggregating $1,800, were presented to the Board of Supervisors. A report was made in favor of paying claims for some four thousand dollars expenses in the prosecution of Stokes.

Presents to the Law Institute.

A silver vase worth $5,000, and two oil paintings, one a life-size portrait of Thomas Addis Emmett, and the other of Chancellor Kent, the gift of the late Hugh Maxwell, were to-day presented to the Law Institute.

Aquatic Wager.

Joseph Cloud, of Trenton, has wagered $5,000 that he will, in one hundred and forty-five days, row 3,627 miles without eating or sleeping in hotels. The rowing is to take place between Trenton and Philadelphia.

Murderers Arraigned.

James Jackson, a negro, charged with having murdered his white mistress, and the two McCabes, charged the murder of Mrs. McCabe, were arraigned to-day, and pleaded not guilty.

The City of Washington's Passengers.

One hundred and forty-one passengers of the wrecked steamer City of Washington have arrived in this city; the remainder will arrive on Wednesday.

Swiss Festival.

The Swiss societies and Swiss populace of this city began their annual festival yesterday, and will bring the affair to a close to-day.

RAILROADS.

Consolidation — From Pittsburgh to Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—Articles of consolidation between the Chicago & Atlantic Railroad Company, party of the first part, and the Chicago & Atlantic Extension Railroad Company, party of the second part, and the road now in process of construction known as the Baltimore, Pittsburgh & Continental Railroad, were filed this morning in the office of the Secretary of State. The object of the consolidation is to form one continuous line from Pittsburgh to Chicago. The capital stock of said consolidation corporation is fixed at four millions of dollars, the by-laws of the party of the first part to be adopted and made the rule of government for the consolidated company. The directors, only elected for the first year, are as following: George J. Bippus, David Studabacker, John Studabacker, Samuel M. Daily, Joseph W. Purviance, J. Kendmer, Isaac B. Hynes, Gustavus Durr, Wm. Exmandorf, John G. Earl, Isaac P. Coates, Geo. A. Shuefelt, and J. C. Fawcett. The general offices of the consolidation company are to be at the city of Chicago, and the offices of the Indiana division at Huntingdon, Ind.

Selma, Marion & Memphis.

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 14.—Some two years since this county voted five hundred thousand dollars for stock in the Selma, Marion & Memphis railway, with a proviso that the money should not be used outside this county until the road was completed without it. Two hundred thousand dollars in warrants have already been issued to the company, and some time since the county appointed a committee to investigate the work done and the affairs of the road. The committee made a report against the company, and to-day the County Court, by a vote of sixteen to five, refused to issue any more warrants, on the grounds that the money voted by the county had been used outside of it and in violation of the original contracts. It is understood the court will bring suit for the remainder of the bonds.

THE CHOLERA.

Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 14.—There were two deaths from cholera reported to-day.

Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 14.—The cholera has broken out among the convicts in the penitentiary. Up to this time three cases reported have resulted fatally. One of the fatal cases was that of Thos. Lawrence, of Bucyrus, and an old man, aged seventy, who has been in poor health for years. The other was Samuel Behm, a lifetime convict, from Hamilton county, who has been in prison eighteen years. The entire prison is disinfected and in excellent condition, so it is thought the disease is now under control.

Paducah.

NASHVILLE, July 14.—Several deaths occurred from cholera brought on by imprudence, in Paducah, yesterday and last night. The number was not reported.

PHILADELPHIA.

M. E. Centennial Celebration.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The centennial celebration of the first Methodist annual conference in America took place this afternoon at George's M. E. Church, the same building in which the first annual conference was held. Bishop Jones presided and addressed the meeting, saying the results during the past hundred years in the progress of the Methodist Church have exceeded that of any other.

Letters were read from Bishops Scott, Wiley, Merrill, Haven, Andrews, Breck and Pierce, regretting their inability to be present.

An essay on "Methodism in America" before the first annual Conference, was read by Rev. J. B. Wakely, D. D., of New York. Remarks were made by Anthony Null, for sixty-two years a member of St. George's church, Bishop Richardson, of Canada, and Edmund S. Yard. Interesting exercises were also held in the evening.

Two New Cables.

LIVERPOOL, July 14.—The following telegram has been received at the office of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company in New York: The steamers Kangaroo and Edinburgh arrived at Placentia, Newfoundland, on Sunday morning, with the cable on board for two lines between that place and Sidney, Cape Breton. The Edinburgh came into collision with an iceberg in a dense fog off Cape Race. Her bow gear was damaged, but the ship was not much injured.

House Breaking.

The frequency of robberies has become alarming, and the means usually employed to prevent them has proved of no avail till the want was met by the Hall Safe and Lock Co. in the house or parlor safe, which combines all the protection of an office safe, with the elegance of a beautiful piece of furniture, which in fact they are, and no well furnished house should be without one.

Samples can be seen at the branch office of this Company on Smithfield street, and none should fail to call and examine.

Dr. Harris' Cramp Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cholera, Cramps, or severe pain in the stomach or bowels. One teaspoonful will convince the most incredulous as to its merits.

THE operation of the county fee bill, for the past month, has been successful in placing a trifle more than $2,000 in the county treasury.

PRESIDENT MACMAHON has all the facility of a Frenchman in using high-sounding, loyal terms, which really express just nothing at all. He proposes to do everything for France that is necessary, but just what that is he does not declare. Glittering generalities seem to become men in high position.

THE marriage contract between the Duke of Edinburgh, son of Queen Victoria, and the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrowna, only daughter of the Emperor of Russia, was signed on the evening of the 11th instant. The bride is to have a marriage dowry of a million of rubles, and the Duke resigns his claim to the succession of Saxe Coburg Gotha. The young couple are to spend a half of each year in Russia and England respectively.

WHAT will be done in the case of George O. Evans, now that the Supreme Court has reversed the decision of Judge Pierson, does not seem to be so clear. Two years have elapsed since the crime of Evans was committed, and criminal prosecution is prevented by the statute of limitations. Thus this man, who clearly deserved the full penalty of the law for the crime of which he was guilty, escapes all criminal penalty and at most can only be prosecuted in a civil suit. We have little confidence that such prosecution will amount to anything.

THE Ohio Constitutional Convention seems to have fallen from grace already, although it has been in existence but a brief time. Says an Ohio paper: "The drowsy Constitutional Convention has been poking along at such a ridiculous pace that nobody has paid any attention to it. Very few people know of its existence. But the venerable ex-Judge West, whose infirmities of sight are almost as aggravated as those of Gobbo's father, called the irrepressible Baber a blackguard yesterday. That's a good beginning. We shall keep an eye on the Convention now." Verily, the dog days are dangerous to Conventions of the [illegible]

THE Constitutional Convention has tacitly agreed on a brief adjournment, when the article on Railroads shall have passed second reading. The plan is to print and circulate the sections already passed upon, and adjourn till the middle of September. The advantage claimed is, that popular sentiment toward the most important work of the Convention, will be accurately gauged, and that any points that may require emendation will be developed by popular examination and discussion. This movement will have the effect of deferring the ratification of the new Constitution, and, probably, of securing a vote on it separate from a general election. It will thus be acted upon, solely with reference to its merits.

THE position of Prince Bismarck, as indicated in the announcement of his retirement from the active management of German diplomacy, is difficult to clearly comprehend. He retains the Chancellorship of the German Empire, an office created, apparently, especially for him, but does not take an active part in the Government. His position, however, admits of his resuming control of events, at his pleasure. The position in the Cabinet he formerly occupied is now held by a personal and political friend, and the policy of the Government will be in general accord with his sentiments. There are intimations that the King was more than willing to be rid of his able subject, owing to the somewhat dictatorial spirit of the Premier. Such men are exceedingly valuable in perilous times, but troublesome in the more quiet times of peace.

THERE is a severe, and somewhat dangerous diarrhœa prevalent in the city, which shows a tendency to change into dysentery. It is not epidemic, nor particularly dangerous, if carefully treated, but if neglected it has a tendency to bring on, quite suddenly, fatal results. There have been several deaths in the city and the suburbs, which are traceable to the neglect of this disease, in its earlier phases. The people should be cautious in the use of vegetables, and moderate in drinking ice water, and in partaking of food. The conditions are evidently favorable to a very sickly summer; but there need be no general alarm. Caution, promptitude in checking disease, calmness or cheerfulness of spirit, and cleanliness of person will contribute to sound health. Physicians are, at this time, cautioning persons against cold baths, particularly when the person is perspiring. Tepid water should be used in baths. Perspiration suddenly checked, has already been the cause of several deaths in this city. Persons cannot be too careful in observing the laws of health—one of which is the avoidance of anxiety.

OUR MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

We have urged, recently, that the Mayor's office should have a salary affixed, and that the fee system should be abolished,—mentioning, among other considerations, that as conducted, there is every temptation to mal-administration and dishonesty. These views have been illustrated of late by a series of events which have culminated in the appointment of an investigating committee, the resignation of the Mayor's clerk, and a general belief that there are numerous evils around the Mayor's office that need correction. One of the most glaring, is that of conferring absolute power on the Mayor to employ or discharge at will members of the police force. The argument in favor of his wielding this power is that he is the executive head of the city, and that in order to discipline and control, he must wield arbitrary power over the police. But if reports are true, this power is at times made subservient to other purposes. It is entirely feasible, to say the least, for the Mayor to protect criminals, where it is to his interest to do so, by compelling officers to keep silence respecting their crimes. It is quite freely charged upon the present administration that this is done. We trace the evils referred to to the fee system, which lodges too much discretionary power in the hands of the Mayor.

There are reports on the street, affecting the administration of the City Government, which call for a thorough and searching investigation, and we urge councils to make it. It is not difficult to find persons who certainly give currency to these reports, and it is due the Mayor as well as the people, that an impartial and rigid investigation be promptly made. That now in progress relative to police uniforms is a comparatively trifling matter. Of other charges and reports in circulation, we gather into a general statement the following: That money and valuables are taken from persons when arrested, and in many instances, are neither returned nor accounted for. That money has been obtained from certain parties, to be used in prosecuting violators of law, and while the prosecutions were not made, the money was not returned. That money and valuables have frequently been taken from the Mayor's safe. That bawdy houses, in which robberies have been committed, have been protected, even in the face of criminal informations. If we accept these as sample charges, they carry with them the conclusion that the executive administration of the city is conducted in the interest of criminals, provided the inducements are sufficiently attractive.

We do not say that these charges are correct, or that they can be substantiated, but they are current. This being the case, it follows that, unless we desire the City Government to fall into contempt, these things must be investigated or explained. There is, if possible, a worse charge than any above recited current, if we accept with it almost inevitable inferences. It is, that the docket system of recording arrests, amounts taken from prisoners, and the like, has been substituted by a slip system, each officer furnishing the particulars referred to on a loose slip of paper. This lost, and all record of the case is gone, and if money or valuables are appropriated, no proof of a documentary character exists. What are the inferences to be derived from such statements. They are, 1. That a system of reports has been adopted that facilitates the unlawful appropriation of money or valuables. 2. That such appropriations have actually been made. 3. That impediments are thrown in the way of the prosecution of criminals. 4. That those criminals make it the interest of somebody thus to obstruct justice. 5. That the police have been awed into subserviency to this state of affairs. And 6. That the government of the city is administered in the interest of money, and not that of justice.

We do not charge that these things are true, but they are sufficiently and definitely current to demand on behalf of the good names of the Mayor, his Clerk, and the Chief of Police, that a rigid, impartial and honest investigation shall be had. The interests of order loving people, and the well being of the city are bound up in the proper administration of City Government. If thieves and prostitutes can purchase exemption from punishment, they have no reason to hesitate in committing crime. A system of administration that permits this, places the property of every honest citizen at the mercy of the criminal class; this done, and it is a question how long it will be before life will be as cheap as property, or the crime of murder as free from punishment as thievery and robbery are reported to be.

But there is another phase to this question. The root of the evil is in the fee system, which invites the Mayor to make all he possibly can out of his office. As now conducted, it is a standing invitation to any one to secure it, for the sake of the plunder that can be seized. That it has come to be regarded as a place to be worked zealously, for the sake of what may be made, is too well known to be denied. For the profits to be fully secured, a suitable Clerk and Chief of Police must be had. Very naturally knowing what they do, they must be paid extra, or allowed a share in the various "rakes." Thus the system is, in itself, a bid for mal-administration. It naturally develops just such practices as are so freely charged. Men who go into the office, after spending liberally to secure it, are determined to make for themselves a handsome sum. The revenue from drunks and petty criminals, while it aggregates a considerable sum, is only a drop in the bucket. Those whose criminal career gives them large sums very naturally desire to propitiate those who [illegible] impair, if not totally destroy, their evil business. What more prudent than for them to pay for their immunity? And what is there, except a sense of honor, between the officers and the bribe? In favor of receiving money is the fact of outlay to get office, and the necessity of working it to the utmost. We thus see the tendency of the fee system.

If the duties of Mayor were limited to the executive duties with which he is charged in cities the size of Pittsburgh, police justices appointed, the control of the police, so far as discharge is concerned, vested in a committee,—the various officers, from Mayor down, salaried, we would remove the temptation to wink at crime, have a more effective City Government, conducted with greater economy than it now is, and thus improve every branch of city administration. Is it not worth an effort to realize?

THE STRAY PERSIAN.

The Shah and the Fair Sex.

A London correspondent of the New York Tribune says:

"Next to the grass and trees, or perhaps before, the women of England have had the honor to interest the Shah. Regarding them naturally from the Oriental point of view, His Majesty has made a number of remarks which will scarcely bear repetition in print. The prevailing fashion of dress has given him abundant opportunity to compare their attractions with those of his own harem. For three he is reported to have offered £ 0,000, with the option of canceling the bargain and returning to England if after a fair trial they dislike Persia. One of the three told me she was inclined to accept if the money could be settled on herself, and if she could feel sure about getting back. But I think no bargain has been closed. At Lady Granville's party at the Foreign Office, on Tuesday night, it was an American lady—or, as some say, two or three fair Americans—who had the honor to attract this noble savage's regard. At one or two dinners he has found himself with a lady on each side of him, and this is a practice which he declares himself unable to understand. They, on the other hand, have been enlightened by experience as to some customs which prevail in Persia, but have hitherto been unknown in England. One lady on rising from the table found her lap filled with morsels from the Royal plate, which, as she supposed, he had found unpalatable and quietly disposed of in this way. Another beheld sundry viands from time to time during dinner transferred from the Shah's plate to her own. There is even a story that he took such a violent dislike to spinach when it was served to him for the first time that he ejected it from his mouth on to the plate of his neighbor. But to all these, as to most of the other stories, there is another side. The charitable and well informed explain that these contributions were meant as marks of royal favor and were in the hight of good breeding, since among Orientals it is the custom to bestow on a guest the choicest morsels from the host's portion, and a King always stands in the relation of a host to everybody else."

The Shah himself is an ugly cuss. He resembles closely the picture of the more cruel of his forefathers, contained in the early editions of the Arabian Nights. I dare say he has caused many a poor devil's head to be chopped off on a notice of five minutes, and it would not surprise me to learn that he has a trick of making himself a widower three or four times a month. A fierce-eyed, tallow-visaged, ugly beast as ever wore a diamond or carried a scimeter; and his Grand Visier, who is along with him, is only a trifle less brutal and vicious. If you met either in a dark alley you would tremble for your life. If Captain Jack has a worse countenance he is no true Modoc.

THE SHAKERS.

Spirit of Revolution Seized Upon Them.

The spirit of revolution has seized upon the gentle Shakers, and threatens to make havoc of their precept and practice. During and after the war they recruited their numbers from widows and orphans, and those whom battle had impoverished, but now their resources are at an end, and some of their colonies are threatened with extinction. As a rule, new converts do not stay with them longer than four or five years. The iron hand of restraint grows too severe, and they fly back to the world and its temptations. How can it be otherwise? In their "families" the domestic ties are unknown, marriage is banished, and little children are made to ape the gravity of their elders. There are no toys and picture books in Shaker land, no fireside games and frolics, no courtship and marriage—nothing but the grim, severe doctrine of self-abnegation. Hence it has come to pass that some of the colonies are thinking seriously of introducing marriage as a new element of union in their warfare with the world. Of course it will produce a change in their line of doctrinal defence, but they will not be the first religious body that has accommodated itself to circumstances. And other innovations may follow. A married Shakeress may even rebel against coalscuttle bonnets and white caps, and may compel her husband to accept the situation and surrender at discretion.—N. Y. Daily Graphic.

PROF. MARSH and the Yale College exploring party to Fort McPherson, Neb., have returned from the Niobrara river, where they have spent the last few months in geological explorations. The trip was successful and many interesting discoveries were made. Many new and extinct animals were found, among them several fossil horses, camels and rhinoceroses. The party are all well, and will start to-day for Fort Bulger, to explore the Utah mountain country.

Sir Josiah has always been a working man, and in early life was successively a shoemaker, baker, weaver and jeweler, before he began the steel business, in which he became opulent.

A CORRESPONDENT of a Western journal writes that Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague is about broken-hearted over her father's death, because, while he lived, she had hope of being the presiding spirit of the Executive Mansion. She will never reside in Washington hereafter, it is said, because her disappointed ambition has made the city hateful to her.

AT Moscow a lady, renowned for her beauty, ventured to call on the Shah with an enormous boquet. The "Light of the World" accepted the floral present, examined the fair visitor carefully and leisurely for a considerable period with his eye-glass, and then probably overcome by admiration, turned his back upon her and retreated to his apartments, without deigning to utter even a royal monosyllable.

VICE PRESIDENT TOM SCOTT, of the Pennsylvania Central, has gone to Europe on the double errand of negotiating the bonds of the Texas Pacific and freeing the Memphis & El Paso Railroad from the claims of the French stockholders, who were victimized by Gen. Fremont and his agents. As a part of the latter work, he proposes to clear Gen. Fremont from the stigma judicially put upon him by the French courts.

MRS. LETITIA TYLER SEMPLE, of Baltimore, has presented to the Virginia State Library two fine portraits—one of her father, John Tyler, Governor of Virginia and President of the United States, and the other her grandfather, John Tyler, Governor of Virginia. The first was painted by Wm. Hart, of Kentucky, and the latter by the great-grand-daughter of Governor John Tyler, E. R. Denison, from the original by Warren. Both pictures are good portraits.

THE wealth of Astor is now computed at $200,000,000. The property of old John Jacob Astor, the father of William B. Astor, was left by him in trust for the benefit of his heirs. After the expiration of the Trusteeship, which will occur at the end of the third generation—that is, after the grandchildren have passed away—it will then be divided among all the descendants of the old man, the law not allowing a Trusteeship of that kind to extend for a longer period of time.

MRS. S. S. FARRELL, appointed postmaster at Covington, Ky., to succeed the late Jesse R. Grant, the President's father, is an old resident of Covington, and a daughter of Captain West Sabrer, the leading pilot in the gunboat expedition against Fort Donaldson. Her husband, John W. Farrel, was lieutenant colonel of the 4th Kentucky Volunteers, and afterwards assistant superintendent of the Kentucky Central Railroad. Mrs. Farrell was strongly recommended for the position.

MRS. FAWCETT, the political economist, who has attained considerable prominence by her writings, opposes the Ten-Hours act because it restricts the work of women and children in the factories to ten hours per diem, while it does not restrict the labor of men at all; which discrimination, she argues, implies that woman is not yet the equal of man. It is a queer crotchet in reform, however, which would sacrifice to an abstract principle a great measure of humanity to the weaker sex.

EX-GOVERNOR LEONARD SARGEANT, of Vermont, who was counsel for the accused at the celebrated Boorn trial, more than fifty years ago, and is the only living man thoroughly acquainted with that remarkable case, when the convicted prisoner was saved from hanging by the discovery that his supposed victim was alive and well, is soon to publish a pamphlet, at the office of the Manchester (Vt.) Journal, containing an authentic record of the half-forgotten and often misquoted facts.

A BERLIN letter to the new York Herald says: Garibaldi still lives, and to assure our Roman clerical friends on this point I will give a translation of a letter, written by the veteran General to your correspondent, dated from Caprera the 13th of May, 1873:

I am of the same opinion as Gen. Grant, that Europe will finally adopt the Republican form of government. Yours, G. GARIBALDI.
Capera, May 13, 1873.

THE death is mentioned, in Florence, of Miss Edwigia Ware, an American lady of the greatest distinction, who, being a cousin of President Buchanan and an ardent partisan of secession, was engaged, during our civil war, by Messrs. Mason and Slidell as an agent of the Confederate cause in the high official regions of France and England. Miss Ware was lately acting as a governess of Prince Napoleon's daughters, until her health compelled her to retire in the capital of Tuscany, where she has just died, aged 49.

THE Marshfield Club lately visited the birthplace of Daniel Webster, at Franklin, Mass. An account of the visit says: "The farm house, of a dusky red, on a knoll, is shut in by an amphitheater of hills, and summer and winter must have been well fitted to exert a spell over a youth of such transcendent natural gifts. The rivers Winnipiseogee and Pemigewasset, which unite not far away to form the Merrimack—a noble sheet of water, three miles in length, which Webster called Lake Como, but which now bears his name—were frequent haunts of his boyhood."

GEORGE DUNVILLE, Jr., of Newark, who was to have been married on Tuesday of last week, disappeared before the wedding-day, and left behind him the following letter:

NEWARK, July 1, 1873.

The devil stands to catch me. I am forsaken by all mankind. At 5 o'clock I shall be in another world, free from the cares of this world. My body will be picked up in the Passaic river. In my vest pocket they will find a ring and a watch and twenty dollars in money. So farewell from that lover of the one who died for your sake. Farewell from this world of care. Lauched in eternity with a moment to spare.

GEO. DUNVILLE.

The friends of the missing man know of no reason why he should commit suicide.

A CHICAGO Tribune correspondent gives the following pen picture of Henry McGrath, the great Kentucky horse breeder and racer. He says: He is not far from 60 years of age, and resembles a keen, well-to-do farmer, which he is. There were no diamonds about him, and no swagger—just a plainly dressed farmer in a black slouch hat. He has a short, full, well-knit body, and his pink face is round and almost jolly. He wears spectacles, and really resembles the accepted likenesses of Pickwick, except that instead of a bald head he has a bountiful growth of iron-gray hair which covers his head, the hair being short and somewhat curly at the ends. His nose is sharp, and his lips thin and firm. His whiskers, which are clipped very close, are perfectly white and very thin. Altogether he has as benignant a face as Pickwick's, but evidently less agility, for his motions are slow and heavy."

THE Connecticut Legislature adjourned Saturday, and the "land of steady habits" has at last resigned itself to clambakes, surf bathing, mountain climbing, mineral water and the other festivities of the season.

RUMORS having been circulated that Thurlow Weed was seriously ill, an announcement has been made that although he had suffered recently from chronic difficulties, his general health has remained as good as usual.

LEADERS of the colored people of the District of Columbia are reported opposed to the policy of mixed schools. To insist on these, they think would be to injure themselves, as they already get the largest part of the money spent in the District for educational uses, and with that should be content.

AT a recent meeting of Trinitarian Congregational Ministers, of Massachusetts, Rev. Mr. Turner, of Hyannis, told the following:—The Universalist church in Hyannis was struck by lightning. The nearest bell was on the Baptist church; but when they applied for the key the sexton refused. "He was not going," he said, "to interfere with the will of God." The church was consumed.

LOUIS NAPOLEON was charged with stealing on his own private account. But the full inventory of his private estate shows that it amounted to but about $2,500,000. And his facilities for money-getting were almost unlimited. Whenever he wanted to turn an honest penny, he housed himself in the Tuilleries and gave out that he was ill. The Paris Bourse responded at once.

A WASHINGTON correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, who has been examining the records of the Pension Office, has found on the list of the twenty-five surviving soldiers of the Revolution, eighteen who were a century old and upwards; five more than 101; four 102; two 103; one 104; two 105; two 106, and one 109. A list of the widows of soldiers of the Revolution at the Pension Office, gives the names of twenty who lived to be 100 years old, and seven who reached the age of 97.

WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY, at Middletown, Conn., has a total property of $881,056 88, of which $470,000 is real estate. The ordinary receipts last year were $6,302.60, to which must be added $8,520 48 from permanent funds, $19,100 from professorship funds, and several thousand dollars in donations, making the total receipts of the year $32,774.63. The expenditures amounted to $37,597 71, of which $24,580 was for salaries. The president receives $3,000, the professors $2,500, the librarian $1,500 and the curator $1,000.

A HUGE cephalopod is now on exhibition at the temple of Assaka, Yeddo, Japan, which was killed by Japanese fishermen. The creature seized the fishing-boat with its tentacles, while off the village of Kounoto, in the district of Kisaradsou, and the boatman killed it by repeated blows. From the tail to the insertion of the tentacles it is about sixteen feet long, and the arm, from its juncture with the body to the sucker at its point, measures nearly five feet. The polyp has shrunk materially since its death, and living must have measured nearly or quite eighteen feet.

IT was reported in San Francisco last week, that a sexton, having entered Odd Fellows' Cemetery, near Lone Mountain, was horrified at discovering that the glass covering of a coffin had been broken from within, and the hands of a dead woman, lacerated and covered with blood, protruded from the opening. The version of the sexton, who was quickly "interviewed," was that he did find the glass broken, but that it was caused by the swelling of the body, which pressed the hands, folded across the breast, through the cover. Some of the papers, however, still stick to the original story.

THE constitutionality of the law of Rhode Island, which restricts the right of suffrage of naturalized citizens to those who own real estate to the value of $134, is to be tested. A naturalized citizen named Gorman was not allowed to vote at Providence, at the last election. He has carried the case into the United States Court, claiming that the obnoxious statute is inconsistent with the constitutional amendment declaring that "no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the liberties or immunities of the citizens of the United States." The case is an interesting one, and the result will be earnestly watched by Rhode Islanders.

THE New York Observer is publishing a series of letters from the Holy Land by a New York lawyer, who has for the once turned pilgrim. In his last communication he gives some information as to the ancient sect of the Samaritans [illegible] gregation numbers about 150 persons. Their Bible includes only the books of Moses, of which they have a manuscript copy 3,500 years old, as they assert, but probably not over 1,500 or 2,000 years old. He was allowed to see it for a franc. They have a high priest, and observe all the feasts of the ancient Jews, and especially that of the Passover, which they keep on Mount Gerizim with all the formalities of the ancient rite.

COMPARING New York with London in the matter of criminal statistics, the latter city appears in quite favorable light. In the metropolitan police district of London, which embraces over three millions of people, the total number of arrests last year were 78,203. In New York, with less than one-third population, the number of arrests during the same period, was over 80,000. This is not a very favorable showing, and, in the opinion of some of the New York journals, it demonstrates the fact that criminal classes are more numerous in New York than in London. The New York Times hopes this fact will be kept in view by those who "make light of the difficulties of maintaining good government in New York."

A RATHER clumsy attempt to "bull" the peach market was made by the peach-growers at their meeting at Dover, Delaware, last week. In June last they estimated the coming crop for railroad shipment North at 2,237,000 baskets; but some of the young peaches having since then fallen from the trees, they have cut down this estimate to less than 1,000,000, which even the Delaware papers think is too great a change. The general public will be of the same mind, especially when it is remembered that the crop is usually larger than the estimate, and that the excess last year was 500,000 baskets. The peach crop, from present prospects, will be ample, and these efforts to put up prices in advance of the season will not be attended with much success.

STORM AND DROUGHT.

The Condition of the Crops.

This is the critical time of the year for the crops in the Northern States, and the consumers, as well as the producers, always watch the course of the season with great anxiety. Upon the first week or two of July, as Summers run, more depends than upon any other four weeks of the year, for during this time most of the tenderer crops mature, and the harvest begins. Unfortunately, the prospect of two or three weeks ago has been changed for the worse by the contrary elements during the first week of July. While in the Western States the ripening or half-cut crops of grain have been beaten down by the frequent gales and rotted by the pouring rains, in some of the Eastern States the crops are suffering from the drought. According to reports up to last evening the States which have suffered most from the superabundance of rain are Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and the last-named State seems to have been peculiarly unfortunate. In the southern and central counties for two weeks preceding July 8th, not one day had passed without a rain-storm, and several of great violence occurred. The lowlands were flooded and the grain in many places was sprouting in the stock. Where the fields were unusually exposed the grain was so beaten down as to make the harvesting extremely difficult if not impossible. Corn was not so badly affected as wheat, but the crop must be much shorter than was anticipated. Similar conditions are reported in Indiana, although not so serious. In Ohio the storms have been of shorter duration, but those of the last few days were of great violence. In nearly every county the lower fields are or have been under water, and the crops have been washed out and destroyed to an unusual extent. The disasters occurred so late in the season that it will be impossible to repair the damage, although a week or two of fine weather now would make a very great difference.

On the other hand, in a large part of New York, New Jersey and New England, the lack of rain has been injurious to the crops. The hay which is now harvesting is much lighter than it promised to be two weeks ago. The grain in many places has ceased to develop, and is turning to maturity unseasonably. The corn and the potatoes are, of course, suffering, but, being later crops, may recover some of the lost ground with a few weeks of favorable weather. Fruit is suffering from these different causes in all the Northern States. The farmers of the East and the West generally are praying for a mutual exchange of conditions, for a short season at least, to bring them relief.—N. Y. Evening Post.

GREAT SHIPS.

The Naval Display off Spithead.

The naval review off Spithead, given in honor of the Shah, is said to have been made by the strongest fleet that ever rode in British waters. There were twenty-three iron-clad vessels of war, and twenty-one gunboats engaged in the review, embracing the best vessels on the English home station. Ten of the iron-clads were turret ships built upon the American "monitor" principle, so far as the turret is concerned, the largest of them being the "Monarch," of 5102 tons, a vessel that cost the Admiralty over $1,770,000. Of the iron clad vessels, (not turret ships,) the largest were the Agincourt and the Northumberland, each of 6621 tons, with engines of 1360 horse power, each carrying twenty-eight guns, some of them of twelve tons weight, and each vessel having cost $2,325,000. The Agincourt was the flag ship of Admiral Hornby, who commanded the squadron. There were also four other iron-clads of large size, the Achilles, 6121 tons; the Black Prince, 6109 tons, said to be the handsomest iron-clad in the British navy, and the Sultan and Hercules, each of 5234 tons. The size of these colossal war ships may be imagined when it is known that the largest iron-clad in the United States navy is the Roanoke, of 2,260 tons, a little more than one-third the tonnage of the Agincourt or the Northumberland, whilst the largest of our wooden ships is the paddle steamer Vanderbilt, of 3,187 tons, now in California. Among the other large iron-clads in the Spithead review are mentioned the Devastation of 4,407 tons, the Hector 4,089, the Valiant 4,063, the Caledonia, 4,125, the Audacious and the Vanguard each of 3,774 tons, the Sovereign 3,765, the Zealous 3,716, the Penelope 3,096, the Glutton 2,709, the Hotspur 2,637, the Prince Albert 2,537, and the Gorgon, the Hecate, the Cyclops and the Hydra, each of 2,107 tons. With the exception of the last four, these all exceed in size our largest iron-clad the Roanoke. The heaviest battery carried is that of the Devastation, four thirty-five ton guns. Twenty-five ton guns are also carried by other vessels, and their armor plating in some cases reaches fourteen inches in thickness. The Shah, in looking at these colossal vessels, drawn up in two grand divisions to receive him, must have thought that the "wooden walls of Old England" were "succeeded by pretty substantial "iron walls." It cost the British Treasury, it is said, $1,500,000 to make this naval exhibition to "impress the Shah." As it has made a somewhat strong impression upon the rest of the world, the British Government has got more for the money than was expected.

The First Seeds of Consumption.

Nearly every one will believe that the first tubercle that is deposited in the lungs or elsewhere in the human body, finds its way there through the channels of the circulation; and if no tubercle were in the blood, none could be deposited. If you can so enrich the blood with proper plastic material, it will contain no tuberculous matter as it goes the rounds of circulation; it will leave at each spot the supplies necessary to the faithful carrying on of all the functions of life. Tubercle is a foreign element incongruous to the health of the body and when deposited in sufficient quantities in the lungs, they are inadequate to the uses which Nature designed for them. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure will overthrow these tubercles; will arrest them in their progress through the arteries; will dissolve them and carry them out of the human body before they find a lodgment or resting place. The discovery of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is an epoch in the treatment of Consumption and all chronic diseases of debility. It cures without sickness, pain, or weakening or hindering from work, as may be learned by reading Dr. Keyser's treatise, to be had free of cost, by addressing him at 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 14, 1873.

The money market is but a repetition of what it has been for the past month or more—"dull" being the most expressive word whereby to indicate its present condition—and the hot weather does not in any wise tend to move activity. Money continues quite plenty, the prevailing rate of discount being 9@10 ₩ cent. ₩ annum to regular customers, and 10 to 12 outside, for first-class paper. There is but little animation exhibited in the local stock market, but prices remain as at last quoted. Business in real estate continues very brisk; the sales in every direction are numerous and at good prices. Large numbers of the Mowry Homestead lots were sold by auction on Monday, and seventy-two lots on Penn avenue, opposite Friendship Grove, are advertised to be sold Tuesday.

The Cincinnati banks are well supplied with currency, and are discounting liberally for their depositors at 8@9 ₩ cent. In the open market private capitalists are discounting good business paper at 9@10 ₩ cent.—occasionally an A No. 1 note is credited at 8 ₩ cent. M[illegible] 10 ₩ cent., gages, city property, from 1 to 5 years. [illegible] instances transactions are [illegible] 9 ₩ cent.

Little is being done in the Philadelphia money market. The low rates of interest and discount obtainable, both on call and time contracts, the tendency of money towards the cities, as usual during the heated term, a low scale of rates appears to be secured beyond peradventure. Stocks dull, but generally steady as to prices. Sales of Old City Sixes at 97. Reading Railroad sold at 55¾, cash. Pennsylvania at 54¾, and Lehigh Valley at 61¾. 122 was bid for United States Companies of New Jersey, 43 buyer's option for Catawissa preferred, and 32¾ for new do. preferred. Canal stocks, no sales. In the rest of the list the only transactions were a small lot of Kensington Bank at 72. Empire Transportation at 36¾. It is semi-officially announced that the Geneva award will be paid in United States bonds.

Our advices from Chicago, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore and other cities, report no material change in the financial situation, money being plenty at unchanged rates of discount.

NEW YORK, July 14, 1873.

Money was easy at 3@4. Sterling was dull at 109⅝@109¾ for sixty days, and 110¼@110⅜ for sight. Gold was quiet at 115⅝@116, closing at 116. Loans 3@4¾ per cent. Clearings $40,000,000. Treasury disbursements $241,000. Customs receipts $349,000. Governments were quiet and firm. State bonds were dull and steady. Stocks were strong throughout the day, with a general advance in prices. The improvement ranged from ¼ to 1¾ per cent., and was most marked in Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Pacific Mail, C. C. & I. C., Hannibal & St. Joseph, Atlantic & Pacific preferred and Western Union. Market closed firm at about the highest point. PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 14, 1873.

ALE—Standard Pittsburgh brands are still quoted at $8 per brl. to the city, and $9 to the country for X; $10 for XX, and $11 for India Ale. Half barrels in proportion.

ASHES—Market continues quiet, and prices are nominally unchanged; Common Soda Ash 4¼; refined, 6; Nitrate, 5; Pearls, 11; Potash 8@9¼; Arsenic, 4¾@5.

APPLE BUTTER—Is about out of season; may be quoted at 45 to 55c per gallon.

APPLES—New crop have commenced to come in pretty freely, and the market, as might be expected, is becoming easier, although prices remain unchanged, ranging from $3 to $5 per brl, according to size, quality and condition.

BUTTER—There is an increased demand for the better grades, and with a limited supply, the market is firmer, and prices, since the date of our last report, have advanced 2@3c ₩ lb. Sales of prime to choice, solid packed, at 18@20; medium to good, 14@16; common to fair, 8@12. There is not much inquiry for the common grades.

BEANS—There is not much inquiry, but the supply is almost exhausted and prices are nominally unchanged, ranging from $2.50@3 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—There has been less doing during the past week, but stocks are light and prices are still maintained, ranging from 5 to 9c ₩ lb., according to quality. Stocks in hands of dealers are comparatively light, but consumers bought pretty freely during the excitement, a few weeks ago, and consequently, are well supplied.

BUCKWHEAT—Sales for, seed, at $1.50@1.75 ₩ bushel.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@33c ₩ lb.

BROOMS—In fair demand and firm but unchanged. No. 2, $1.75 No. 3, $2; No. 4, $2.50; No. 5, $2.75. Carpet Brooms, $3.50. Toy, $1.50, Wisps, $1.00@2.50.

BAGGING—Penn Mill two bushel bags, 35c: two and one-half bushel, 42; three bushel, 50.

CEMENT & LIME—Louisville Cement, $2.00 @2.25 per barrel. Youghiogheny, $1.75@2. Rosendale, $3.75@3.75; Portland, $8@8.20. Plaster Calcined—Mills & Co's, $3.25@3.50. Eastern, $3.75@4. Michigan, $3.50. Lime—Cleveland Tremont, Perrysburg, $1.75@2; Eastern, $1.60@1.75, Land Plaster, 3.50@3.75.

COPPER—Following are the card rates, cash, as reported by Park & Co.: Braziers' Copper, 13 lb. sheets and upward, 40c. Braziers' Copper, 10, 11 and 12 lb. sheets, 43c; Braziers' Copper, 9 lb. and less, 42c; Circles, under 84 in. diameter, 42c; Circles, 84 in diameter and over, 46c; Segment and Pattern Sheets, 43c; Sheathing Copper, 14 in. by 48 in., 38c; Bolt Copper, 40c; Locomotive Fire Box Plates, 40c.

COTTON, SHEETING and YARNS.—Penn Mill A. No. 1, 4-4 Sheeting, 12¾c, Nonatook, 12c, Pittsburgh Family, 11c; Juniata, B. fine, 11c, White Carpet Chain fine, 36c Colored, 43c, Cotton Batting, 18; Cotton Twine, 36.

CORDAGE & ROPE—Manilla rope, ¾ inch in diameter and upwards, 18¾ cents, ¾, 19c ¾, and 5-16, 19¾c tarred rope and lath yarn, 18c and hay and leather twine, 19. Sisal rope—¾ and 5-16 inch diameter, 17c. ¾, 16¾, ¾ and upwards, 16; hay and spoke twine, 16¾. Oil well drilling, cables—hawser laid, 18¾c; do. bolt rope and yarn, 20c; Sand pump rope, 18¾.

CARBON OIL—The jobbing trade continues exceedingly dull, as it usually is at this particular time, and prices, in sympathy with the raw material, are weak and lower; we reduce quotations to 14¾@14¾ by the car load, and 1@2c additional for smaller lots. It is probable that the western trade will open up early, as the low prices will tend to make jobbers buy earlier than usual.

CHEESE—The market for prime Ohio Factory is firmer; and within the past few days prices have advanced from ¼ to ½c ₩ lb; we now quote at 11@11¾ for round lots, and 12@12¾ in a jobbing way. There is little or no demand for low grade Cheese.

CANNED GOODS—Trade continues dull, and no improvement can reasonably be expected soon—the demand is always light at this particular time. Prices, however, are nominally unchanged, and we continue to quote at $2¾@2¾ ₩ dozen for Tomatoes; $2.90@3 for Winslow's Corn, and $3 for Peaches.

COUNTRY BACON—Is dull, but prices are nominally unchanged; Shoulders, 5@5¾; Clear Sides, 8@7¾; Hams, 8@9. Country Lard, 7¾@8.

DRIED FRUIT—The market continues quiet, although prime halve Peaches are held with considerable firmness, occasioned by the belief that the present crop will be below an average, there is not much doubt about this; may be quoted at 7@8c. Apples nominal at 3@4. Blackberries, 8 @10; Pitted Cherries, 16@20; unpitted, 6@8.

EGGS—The market during the past week has been moderately active, and prices are higher, although at present, in consequence of increased receipts, the feeling is scarcely as strong; quotations may be fairly given at 18@20—some few sales were reported during the week at 21, and even 22, but these cannot now be realized.

FIRE BRICK—West Virginia, $18 to $30 Bolivar grades, $35.00; Star, $40; Woodland, $55 Mount Savage $65.

FLOUR—The market is firmer in feeling than it was at this time last week, occasioned by reports that the recent heavy rain storms have injured the Wheat crop in many localities, and some of the western millers, so we are reliably informed, are endeavoring to advance prices; however, this is likely to be only temporary, it is customary to get up a scare just about harvest time, and while the Wheat crop may have been damaged in some localities, it was by no means general, and the reports generally indicate that there will be an average yield. It is true, the weather recently has not been very favorable in this section of the country for harvesting, but there is not much doubt but what the new crop will generally be secured in good condition. Quotations, in a jobbing way may be given as follows: $6.75@7.25 for Spring wheat flours, and $8@8.00 for red winters, according to quality.

GRAIN—The market is moderately active, but the demand is mainly confined to supply immediate wants, and there is but little that is really new or important, excepting that the receipts during the past week have been comparatively light. There is very little Wheat here excepting what is in the hands of millers, and there is not much inquiry for it, and prices remain unchanged at $1.45@1.55, as to quality. The reports generally are favorable for an average crop; hence, the outlook is not favorable for a higher range of prices, though no further decline is anticipated during the next 30, perhaps 60 days, as old stock will be wanted by millers to mix with the new. The arrivals of Oats have been comparatively light during the past few days, and with a brisk demand, there is a firmer feeling, but no improvement in prices, which range from 43@45, as to quality. There has been an unusually brisk demand all summer, hence, notwithstanding the arrivals were large, prices were and are still sustained. Shelled Corn continues very quiet; the receipts continue light, but the supply, while it is small, is fully equal to the supply, and prices, as compared with last week, are without quotable change; 53@54 on track, and 55@56 in elevator. Ear Corn is also in light demand, and may be quoted at 56@57 in bulk. There have been some few sales of Rye during the past week, but the market continues very quiet; quotations may be given at 75 for western, and 80 for prime Ohio and Penna. Distillers generally are buying little or nothing just now, owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the whisky market, and this, as might be expected, has a depressing effect both on Rye and Shelled Corn.

GROCERIES—Coffee—The telegram received to-day dated Rio, June 22nd, reports sales since the 16th of 12,000; stock 120,000, and daily receipts 5,000 bags. No change in price; exchange higher. At any other season of the year this news, considering the state of the market everywhere, would stimulate holders; but, in the face of the new crop soon to be marketed, it may have no effect in advancing, but will probably stiffen the market. The eastern importers made concessions last week of ¼c ₩ pound, at which a large business was done in New York and Baltimore. Java higher, and the finer qualities scarce. Sugar—Refineds have advanced full ¼c in the last few days, and to-day's reports from New York disclose a firm market with the chances in favor of an advance of ⅛ to-morrow. Business in Sugars quite brisk. Rice—Carolina advancing. Rangoon steady. Patna firm. Molasses—New Orleans selling freely at our quotations. Syrups dull.

HAY—The market for both loose and baled has stiffened up considerably, and prices have advanced $2@4 ₩ ton since the date of our last report. Baled may now be fairly quoted at $24 to $28 ₩ ton, according to quality. Loose sold from country wagons, in Allegheny, on Friday, last, at $26@28 ₩ ton for new, and $30@40 for old, as to quality. As might be expected, parties, who were loaded up with baled hay, which, a few days since, they could not have sold at cost, are feeling a good deal better.

POTATOES—The supply continues very much reduced, and, as a consequence, high prices still prevail; new crop are being sold at $6 to $8 ₩ brl. and old, of which the supply is almost exhausted, $1@1.25 ₩ bushel. It is scarcely possible for these prices to be much longer maintained, but there will have to be increased receipts before there can be much of a decline.

PEA NUTS—Demand better, and choice white nuts are higher, may be quoted at 5@6c per lb, according to quality.

RAGS—Quoted at 3¾@3¾c.

SEEDS—Flax Seed, $2.10@2.12.

WINDOW GLASS—There is no apparent improvement in the demand, and the market, in a general way, presents but little that is really new or important. As noted in our last weekly report, there is a firmer feeling prevailing in consequence of nearly all the factories having been stopped, and in the event of an increased demand, which is expected within the next few weeks, there will doubtless be a reduction in discounts. We continue to quote at 60 and 5 to 60 and 10 ₩ cent. off regular list, though we doubt if a transient buyer could obtain a round lot at these figures—manufacturers, so we are informed, will allow these discounts only to their regular customers.

WHITE LEAD—There is a continued good demand, and manufacturers are full of orders, some of them are reported behind, and unable to catch up; prices, however, remain unchanged, 12c for ton lots, and 12¾c in a jobbing way. In tin packages, ¾ to 1c ₩ lb additional. Outside brands can alway be obtained below the combination rates.

WHISKY—Highwines quotable at 93@94c per gallon.

WOOL—The wool market is quiet. Farmers being now engaged with their harvest, the receipts will fall off for a while. In some localities we hear that a considerable portion of the clip has already been sold, chiefly of the medium qualities of fleece and tub-washed wool, at prices ranging from 40 to 42c for the former and 40 to 45c for the latter. In fine fleece wools little has yet been done, owing to the difference in views of buyers and sellers. The majority are not willing to sell under 45c, and many holding at 45 to 50c, but so long as the Eastern markets are well supplied with choice grades of fine fleece, and selling at 47 to 50c, we see no margin for shippers to pay but little if any advance over 40c. We have heard of several parties who have filled small order for manufacturers' account at 45c, but do not learn of any eastern dealers purchasing at this price, or who are willing to give out orders at over 40c. We quote prices nominal as follows: Common and Medium fleece, 38@40. Fine do, 40@42. Tub washed, 40@45. Unwashed, 25@30.

CATTLE.

In addition to the 28 cars above noted, there were about 4 cars driven in from the adjoining country, and about the same number were brought over from the Central Yards, East Liberty, making 36 cars in all, or, calculating 18 to the car, 648 head. The market is reported as having been sluggish and dragging for a short time, but it was soon discovered that the supply was small, and this together with an increased demand, caused the market to stiffen, and from this until the close it was brisk, and sellers had no difficulty in closing out, that too, at better prices than those which prevailed early in the day, and especially was this true of prime stock. The increased demand, to which reference has been made, was occasioned by the fact that the supply of cattle which butchers usually keep for an emergency, is very much reduced; last Monday quite a number of them did not get as many as they wanted, hence, to-day they required a still greater number, and consequently, sellers, as soon as they realized the situation, stiffened up very materially, and, as we have already stated, sales were readily effected late in the day, at better prices than prevailed at the opening. There were more good cattle on sale than last Monday, while the supply of common slippery stock was about the same, and drovers expected that the former kind would drag, that the butchers would turn their attention more to grass cattle, in consequence of their being so much cheaper, but in this they were deceived; the majority of the butchers wanted good cattle, notwithstanding the difference in price, and the consequence was that prime corn fed cattle sold more readily at 6¾@7c than common stock at 4¾@5, and it is not to be wondered when it is taken into consideration that the former will dress from 55 to 60 pounds clean meat to the cwt., while latter will not exceed 40 to 45 pounds; thus, it will be seen that in addition to quality there is an increase in weight of from 10 to 15 pounds to the cwt. which places an entirely different light on the matter, and explains why butchers consider the highest priced cattle the cheapest. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, there were plenty of cattle sold at from 6 to 6¾, and quite a number at 6¾@7 cts; medium to good may be quoted at 5¾@6; and common to fair, 4¾@5. Common stock sold readily enough to-day, but at about last week's prices—good cattle brought rather more.

P. Sheitmantle sold 14 head small Butler Co. stock 800@1,000 lbs. at 4@4¾.

Peter Hartman sold 9 head from Washington Co, and 20 from Chicago at 4@6.15.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was a very full supply, fully 1,500, of which the largest proportion were lambs, but, while dealers generally reported the market as having been unsatisfactory, there were but few left over unsold, and so far as we could learn, there was no quotable change in prices, as compared with last week. Considering the large number on sale, we think the market was all that could have been expected, and we were impressed with the belief that the light supply and enhanced cost of cattle caused the butchers to buy a larger number of sheep and lambs than they would otherwise have done. Lambs, as will be seen, sold at from $2@4 ₩ head, and sheep at $4@5¾c ₩ lb. Last year many of the butchers insisted on buying lambs by weight, but this year they are all or nearly so buying by the head—sellers prefer selling by weight, but buyers usually have their way in this matter.

John F. Neeley reported 79 head of Washington County lambs at $2@3¾ ₩ head, and 46 sheep at $3 ₩ head to 5¾c ₩ lb.

John Fairley reported 104 head of Armstrong Co. stock; sold sheep at $3@4 ₩ head. Lambs at $2@4.

James Hanlin sold 111 Washington Co. sheep and lambs at $2¾@4.

John Cullen sold 103 sheep, averaging about 95 pounds from Mahoning County, Ohio, at 4¾ cents.

Theo Kestner, 140 Washington Co. sheep and lambs at $2¾@4¾.

Peter Sheitmantle, of Butler Co, sold 100 sheep at 4@5c ₩ lb: 50 lambs at $2¾@3¾.

Joseph Stakeley sold 78 fair to good lambs at $2.50@3.50 ₩ head.

J. W. Stewart reported 100 head of sheep at 5c ₩ lb; 25 lambs at $4 ₩ head.

New York Iron Market.

The following is from the Iron Age of last week. American Pig.—There is possibly a trifle more inquiry from consumers than has been the case for some time. No. 1 iron is not very plenty, many of the larger makers having sold ahead and withdrawn from the market. Some outside lots are offering at $45@47, but little is obtainable direct from the furnaces below $48. No. 2 iron is held at about $41@43. Forge is quiet, and nominally quoted at about $35 to $36.

Scotch Pig.—The opinions appear to be growing more general that Scotch iron has about touched bottom. The supply here is not large of any description, Eglinton especially being scarce, and comparatively few lots known to be on the way. A lot of Glengarnock in transit is held at $46 per ton, and the owner, it is said, will store it before selling it any cheaper. There is some inquiry from consumers, and we hear of some fair sales having taken place, though the particulars are withheld. A lot of 160 tons Glengarnock, to arrive, was sold at $43, cash, and 100 tons here realized the same figure, though at the close little if any is obtainable below $43.50@44, and Eglinton quoted at the same price.

The demand for manufactured continues light, and prices, though weak, are without further quotable change.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, July 14, 1873.

The Crude market, if anything, was a shade firmer to-day, at least it was so reported, but as compared with Saturday, there was but little change in prices; $1.80@1.85 ₩ brl. at Parker, equal to 5@5¾c per gallon here. Refined continues quiet and nominally unchanged; 18 for July, delivered in Philadelphia, 17¾ for August, and 17¾ for September or October. Our cars may be quoted at 14¾@14¾. The continued heavy receipts of crude, and shipments of refined indicate that our refiners are all busy, notwithstanding there is complaint about the market being dull.

Oil Barrels in steady demand, and prices are fully sustained. Countries, $2.15; city make, $2.25

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with 3 feet 5 inches in the channel. Very heavy rains in the afternoon, with indications in the evening favorable for more. We should not be surprised to see more water within the next 48 hours.

The Ironsides going down, and the Eagle and James and Samuel Miller coming up, passed Cincinnati yesterday.

The Ed. Hobbs, My Choice, Mary Davage and Tom Lysle arrived from below. The Juniata was reported at Steubenville yesterday, and consequently is due here this morning, although it is probable she would have to lighen up somewhat.

The Rover will turn back from Wheeling with 4 barges of railroad iron and nails for Burlington, Iowa. The Davage was compelled to leave one of her barges of ore at the foot of Brunot, which it is probable will have to be lightened unless there is a rise very soon.

The Sam Roberts arrived at Cincinnati yesterday all right.

The steamers in port yesterday had their flags at half mast in respect to the memory of Captain Robert Greenlee, one of our oldest steamboatmen, who died at his residence in Allegheny on Sabbath afternoon.

The Exchange arrived at Cincinnati yesterday, and the Emma Graham was to have left there for Pittsburgh last night. The Exchange will follow on Wednesday.

The Lawrence, for Memphis, and the Turner, for New Orleans, are loading at Cincinnati.

—The New Orleans Picayune of the 9th says: In the past 3 days we have had to chronicle the deaths of Messrs. John Murphy, John Haeberle, Geo McD Burke and Henry T. Wilson, who were all at one time prominent steamboatmen Messrs Burke and Wilson had for some time retired from the river, and were merchandising. Messrs Burke, Wilson and Haeberle were buried yesterday, and were followed to their graves by many sympathizing friends. All of the steamers in port had their flags at half mast yesterday.

—The Tolle is making good time this trip. Her time from New Orleans to Memphis was 5¾ days, with 700 tons of railroad iron for Evansville, besides 113 tons of miscellaneous freight for Columbus, Paducah, and other points on the Ohio.

—The Sioux City Journal, of the 9th, says: "Every boat from Benton this year, as usual, has landed its cargo at Sioux City. The May Lowry has been withdrawn from the proposed Fort Lincoln trip. She remains at Yankton for the present."

—The Vicksburg Herald of the 9th says: The H. C. Yaeger passed down yesterday with a light crew. Her mate came out with a yawl to ship some hands, but didn't succeed in finding any. She had only twelve men and about 600 tons way freight to put out.

—The New Orleans Picayune believes the fire on the City of Cairo was accidental, although her watchman has been arrested on suspicion of setting her on fire.

—A wide channel has cut through from the Missouri into the Big Sioux, in which the water pours with a strong current.

At Vicksburg the steamer Trader was sold at Marshal's sale last Monday for $1,800, the Mississippi Valley Bank being the purchasers.

The matter is one in which the citizens have already evinced a deep interest, and there can be no doubt but that they will earnestly support the committee, who, in a great measure, are responsible for the success of the enterprise.

Results of the Rain.

The very heavy rain which fell yesterday afternoon did considerable damage in Allegheny. About forty feet of the main sewer which is being constructed on Beaver avenue, near Fayette street, caved in about five o'clock, taking with it the track of the Pittsburgh and Manchester Passenger Railway. Some time will be required to repair the track for the street cars to resume operations.

Quite a number of cellars were flooded, and much loss and inconvenience occasioned. John Gillem, a storekeeper on Beaver avenue, lost about fifty dollars by goods which were damaged by the "dampness."

Accident to a Workman.

A workman, whose name we were unable to obtain, in the employ of the Messrs. Bindley, while excavating yesterday morning for a foundation for a new stone wall on Third avenue, in the rear of the Dollar Savings Bank, met with a serious accident which came near proving fatal. It appears a portion of an old stone foundation, beneath which he was working, suddenly fell, and being unable to get out of the way was caught by the falling debris and severely crushed. The man was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital on Second avenue, where he received prompt medical attention. The injuries, though severe, will not prove fatal.

The Amateur Journalists.

The seventh annual convention of the National Amateur Press Association, held in Chicago a few days since, was largely represented by Pittsburghers. Mr. John A. Fox, of the Pittsburgh Spectator, the first vice-president, occupied the Chair. After transacting some minor business, including reports &c., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Charles S. Diehl, of Chicago; Vice-President—E. H. Henderson, of Rathway, Minn.; G. H. Hains, of Wooster, Ohio; Secretary—Edward F. Maden, of Louisville; Treasurer—D. Maxwell, Pittsburgh; Official Organ—The Enterprise, Chicago.

After addresses by the retiring and newly elected Presidents, the Constitution was revised and the poem read. Washington, D.C., was fixed as the place of the next meeting. In the evening the Convention held a banquet at the Sherman House, which proved an extremely pleasant affair.

To Whom Loyal—U. S.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PITTSBURGH, July 14, 1873.

The Dispatch, referring to the procession on Saturday last, asks for the application of the word "Loyal," so freely lettered upon the devices of the Orangemen, and wants to know "to whom are they loyal—the Queen of Great Britain or to the Republic of the United States." After propounding the question, that paper very unfairly refuses to publish the following answer to its queries—a fact which Orangemen generally will fully appreciate:

"We, as Orangemen, are loyal to the Almighty God, the Creator of Heaven and Earth, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and Him alone as our Saviour, and Civil and Religious Liberty, and Freedom to all men, whether Black or White."

"How the Old Thing Works."

Below we give the amount of fees received by the different county officers, during the month of June, and the balance due the county after deducting expenses.

	Total receipts.	County's Share.
Sheriff's office	$1,768 13	$ 319 99
Prothonotary's office	1,867 95	415 95
Recorder's office	3,037 50	1,152 16
Clerk of Courts	515 44	40 44
Clerk of Orphan's Court	402 15	105 85
Coroner's office	204 15	37 49
	$7,795 32	$2,071 88

The receipts of the Register's office amounted to $284 and the expenses footed up $314 16, the county thereby sustaining a loss of $30 16. Subtract that amount from $2,071 88 and it leaves $2,041 72 net gain to the county on the business of the above named offices for the month of June. This is the first year of the full working of the fee bill, passed in 1871, several of the officers having been excluded until the present year. It is estimated that the county will derive an annual revenue from it of not less than $25,000.

Governor Hartranft in the City.

The Governor and his family are in the city; he is also accompanied by Captain Norris, his private Secretary, and Deputy Attorney General Gilbert. Mrs. Hartranft and children are the guests of Hon. T. J. Bigham. Yesterday the Governor was called on at the Monongahela House by the Managers of the Pennsylvania Reform School and many private citizens. He was also met at the Western University by a Committee of its Trustees and Faculty.

To-day the Governor will lay the corner stone of the new Reform School building at Morganza, to which place on the Chartiers Valley R. R. a special train with the Governor, his family, and suite, and a number of invited citizens will proceed at 8.45 this morning and return in the evening. To-morrow the Governor and his party and a number of friends, will go by special train (arranged for the purpose by Col. Phillips) to Chatauqua Lake, returning on Friday. We learn that on Saturday he will proceed with his family to Bedford. The Governor has met with a very cordial reception from all classes of citizens. He is looking remarkably well and accepts gracefully the many compliments paid him for his contributions to the Veto literature of the State.

FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Explosion of a Lamp in the Foundry of McNish & Butler, on Duquesne Way.

About twenty minutes of twelve o'clock last night the great bell in the tower boomed out the alarm of fire from box No. 2, at the corner of Second avenue and Penn street, and the immense light in that direction gave promise of a big conflagration, but it did not amount to a great deal after all. It appears that a lamp exploded in the foundry of Messrs. McNish & Butler, on Duquesne Way, between Third and Fourth streets. The watchman on duty in the establishment was near the lamp at the time it exploded, and he endeavored to extinguish the flames himself, but discovering that he could make no headway unaided, he ran for the boss. The fire was seen by parties on the street several minutes before the alarm was sounded, but as it was the engines were on the ground in time to prevent a very serious amount of damage being done. The fire ran up the post to which the lamp was attached and caught the roof, where it was confined almost entirely. No damage was done to the pattern shop. The loss will probably amount to a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars. The building, which is wood plated with iron, was only erected in March last, and neither it nor its contents were insured. It is completely surrounded by buildings and piles of lumber and a destructive conflagration might have been the result had the fire got under good headway, but the boys who run with the machine were too much for it.

SELECT COUNCIL.

JNO. W. RIDDELL..........President, pro tem.

This branch was called to order at fifteen minutes past two o'clock, when on motion of Mr. Montooth, in the absence of President Gross, Mr. John W. Riddell was called to the chair.

Present: Messrs. Adams, Ahl, Aiken, Atkinson, Atterbury, G. A. Brown, R. A. H. Gross, President.

The minutes were read and approved.

THE RAILROAD CONTRACT.

Mr. PHILLIPS presented an ordinance asking a change in the contract made between the city and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The changes asked were the annulment of the clause which required the erection of bridges between Twenty-eighth and Thirtieth streets, and at Thirty-third street.

Mr. PHILLIPS, by permission, was allowed to explain. He stated that the grade of approach to the proposed Thirty-third street had proved to be so steep as to render the bridge of very little practical benefit. In lieu of this bridge the Company desired a new street opened between Twenty-eighth and Thirtieth streets, and the building of a bridge to run into that street, the Company agreeing to grade the street so laid out.

A number of questions were asked, and the chair decided that the ordinance must go over and come up in regular order. [See the ordinance, printed in another column.]

Mr. BURGWIN said the commission in such matters had no power to lay pipe on the South Side, as they only had authority in the old city.

Mr. MCCARTHY moved to refer the matter to the Water Commission, and direct them to prepare a general plan to supply the South Side with water. Carried.

Mr. HUNTER, remonstrance against turn-table on Fourth avenue. Referred.

Mr. CHALMERS, from the Water Committee, presented a bill from the Monongahela Water Company, amounting to $4,125 up to April 1st, 1874. The committee reported a resolution recommending that the Company be allowed $50 per year for each fire plug, now twenty-three in number. Passed. [This left the remainder of the bill untouched.]

Mr. HUNTER called up the ordinance in reference to the Union Bridge Company, granting them privilege to make a landing for their bridge at the Point, and moved a suspension of the rules and final passage of the ordinance. Motion carried and ordinance so passed.

The ordinance dividing the Seventeenth ward into two election precincts, in C. C. passed, was called up, and after some discussion and several motions, the ordinance was finally passed.

Ordinance for three feet brick sewer on Fifth avenue, from Dinwiddie street to Soho Run; indefinitely postponed. Ordinance for repeal of ordinance for opening of a portion of Hacket street; indefinitely postponed. Resolution from C. C. authorizing night session whenever there was unfinished business; indefinitely postponed.

THE FOURTH AVENUE GRADE.

Ordinance for change of grade on Fourth avenue, from C. C.

Mr. PHILLIPS favored the change because the grade made the street almost impassable, and made travel over it dangerous to life and limb.

Mr. RAFFERTY said no petition had been presented for the change, and he didn't believe in cutting down a street five feet and involving an immense expenditure of money when no one asked it. The only demand, he understood, came from parties who expected to put a Custom House there, but still the speaker thought they ought not to change the grade on that score.

Mr. MCCARTHY said that the grade was one of the worst in the city; was exceedingly dangerous to life and limb. A policeman had to be stationed there all the time to watch the vehicles coming down, and protect pedestrians.

Mr. MORROW didn't care if the change was made if the people petitioned for it, otherwise he opposed it.

Mr. MCCUNE called attention to the cost of cutting down the grade, and said they certainly should not undertake the work unless the people asked for it.

Mr. RIDDELL thought this matter of changing grades was getting to be too serious a joke. There were demands for changes of grade in nearly all the main thoroughfares in the city. He believed in putting a stop to the matter. Fourth avenue with its present grade had been used for almost a generation and it would do yet.

Mr. PHILLIPS said the cost of the change came on the property owners and not upon the city treasury. Councils had the authority to change a grade when they deemed it advisable.

Mr. BROWN said he owned twenty feet on the street at the point where there was the deepest cut, and he would cheerfully pay his assessment of cost.

Mr. MCCANDLESS said if the cost was not assessed upon the city the change ought to be made. He moved to refer to the City Solicitor to report where the cost would fall.

Mr. FETTERMAN called attention to the law which allowed the city to regrade and repave any thoroughfare, and to have the cost assessed by viewers.

Mr. BURGWIN moved to refer it to the Court, reviewers to report the cost and who should pay. Carried.

OLD BUSINESS.

Old business was continued. Ordinance for sewer on School alley, C. C. passed, S. C. concurred. Report of reviewers on Pike street, C. C., asked for Committee of Conference, C. C. concurred, and named Messrs. Riddell and Ahl. Ordinance for three feet sewer on Seventh and Webster avenue. Came up on second reading, objected to and laid over.

Mr. E. P. JONES called up the ordinance in reference to the Pennsylvania Railroad Central, and moved that it be published in the official papers for one week.

Mr. PEARSON moved to have the remonstrance also printed with the ordinance.

Some discussion ensued upon the general principles involved in the ordinance.

The amendment was declared out of order, and a motion to print the ordinance only finally passed. [See elsewhere.]

Mr. HUNTER called up the ordinance in reference to Union street. In C. C. passed; S. C. suspended rules and passed finally.

FIFTH AVENUE CENTER LINE.

Ordinance for re-location of center line of Fifth avenue, from angle west of Shady Lane to angle at O'Hara street.

A remonstrance against the re-location of the centre line was presented by Mr. FULTON, and read by the chairman. On motion it was received and filed.

A communication in relation to the same matter from Mr. W. H. Kennedy, chief engineer of the new water works, was also read. He surveyed and established the centre line of Fifth avenue. The letter was received and filed, as were also communications from Springer Harbaugh, Geo. A. Berry, Hamilton Shepherd, J. G. Johnson and others concerning the same matter.

Mr. FOLLANSBEE moved to concur in the action of Select Council.

Mr. WEST moved that the matter be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. FULTON made a long speech in opposition to the re-location of the line. He said that all the evidence went to show that in the first place the centre line had been correctly located. The affidavit of Mr. Kennedy was to that effect. The owners of property on the south side of the street permitted the original survey to be approved years ago without remonstrance, and at this late day they come into Councils and allege a mistake in the location of the line.

Mr. MCCONWAY said that Mr. Fulton built his argument upon the survey of Mr. Kennedy. The matter when it was thoroughly explained and cleared of the statements, and affidavits that encumbered it was very simple. He said that when he went into an investigation of the matter he was favorable to the claims of the property owners on the north side of the avenue, but he had become convinced that as a matter of simple justice to the property owners on the south side of the street, the ordinance ought to be passed.

MR. FLEMING, Chairman of the Survey Committee, said that he thought the matter was about evenly balanced. All the property in dispute he claimed would not make one lot 25 by 150 feet, and the matter ought to be allowed to rest as it is.

MR. FINLEY said that he had heard the matter argued before the Survey Committee and he thought that equity favored the property owners on the south side of the avenue. The quantity of land he said was not in dispute, it was the irreparable injury that would be done to the south side.

Mr. NEGLEY (Mr. McConway in the chair) said he was opposed to the indefinite postponement of the matter. If he could honorably shirk the case he would do it, as all the parties interested in it were friends of his, but he would discuss the matter as though they were all strangers to him. After stating at length all the circumstances connected with the re-location, Mr. Negley closed by saying that to do justice between the parties, the ordinance ought to pass to-day, and the matter be settled at once.

After some further discussion the question was called on the motion to indefinitely postpone. The ayes and nays were demanded, with the following result:

Ayes—Messrs. Bindley, Boyd, Fleming, Fulton, Harris, Hays, Jones, Lee, Lowrey, John Moore, Joseph Moore, McGlimpsey, Oberheldman, Riley, Sewell, Trautman, West and Williams—18.

Nays—Messrs. Bryce, Carroll, Finley, Follansbee, Foley, Frauens, Laughran, Morgan, McConway, Rahauser, Rolfe, Semple, Sneathen, Wilbert and Negley—15.

So the ordinance was postponed indefinitely.

The following additional business from Select Council was concurred in:

An ordinance to open and widen Ellsworth avenue. Ordinance authorizing the Union Bridge company to erect a bridge across the Allegheny river at any point between the Point and Second avenue. Ordinance opening College avenue. Resolution for elevator in Municipal Hall. Petition for extension of water pipes on Carson street, Thirty-third ward. Communication from Board of Health in relation to sewer in Twenty-first ward.

Resolution from Finance Committee endorsing the project of establishing in this city an Industrial Exposition and Mechanical Institute.

All other business from Select Council was concurred in.

Mr. LAUGHRAN called up an ordinance allowing the Master of the Monongahela wharf additional compensation. It was passed in Select Council June 30, and laid over in Common Council. On motion the action of Select Council was concurred in.

Adjourned.

"CAPTAIN BUTLER'S EXPOSE."

Gas From Petroleum.

Another "Anaconda" Uncoiling in the Oil Regions—What Butler Says About the Scheme—A New Use for Petroleum—Investigations Satisfactory—Gas from Oil Better than Coal Gas—An Interesting Speech.

Up in the Oil Regions they call it "Captain Butler's Expose," by which they refer to an interesting speech made by that gentleman at a public meeting held at Parker's Landing, Friday night. The gentleman hails from Tidioute, and is well known throughout the oil regions. He tells his story in this way:

At one of its latest meetings the Producer's Council had appointed him chairman of a committee to investigate new uses of petroleum, in which capacity he had visited New York and made a tour through several of the New England and Western states, with most satisfactory results. Designing men, enemies of producers, knew of the object of his journey and invited him to meet them at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. There he saw parties representing for their own aggrandizement the entire oil country, for which purpose they had raised an immense sum of money with a view to depress the oil market throughout the year and buy out producers for a comparative trifle. This was no mere fiction or joke, but a grave reality. By means of a fiscal agency the intention was to be carried out gradually, and the combination had already secured large sections of the most valuable territory. The persons he met in New York wished to know how he was succeeding with finding new uses for petroleum. He informed them he hoped soon to be able to bull the market a dollar a barrel. They acknowledged the importance of the project, but said producers were a disorganized rabble, and so heedless nothing could be done with them successfully. They further offered to pay all his expenses on the spot, assuring him he would never make anything in the interest of operators. But he had no doubt of the good result of his mission, though these plotters declared by the first of January they would be able to

for a mere song. He asked them if their action in the matter was honorable, and they answered it was purely a business transaction. Large tracts of territory were already secured, to which constant acquisitions were continually being made. The scheme was ripening, and the greatest fears of its originators was the discovery of new uses for the crude product of the Oil Regions. He could now get his pockets filled to bribe him to silence, but he wished to benefit producers, with whom his own interests were identified. There was one way to circumvent the plotters, and that was by applying petroleum to new purposes, which would result in an increased demand and consequent advance in price. Among these uses the most important was its substitution for coal in the manufacture of gas for illuminating purposes. Objections had been urged against actual experiment however, proved them to be utterly futile. In New Jersey, Waterhouse & Co. had constantly employed it for two years, with the most gratifying results, at one-tenth the cost of the article produced from coal. At Evans Brothers' immense wire works, where it had been used a number of months for lighting and heating, the wire made under the new process readily brought five dollars a ton above that previously turned out, and was largely exported to Europe. The same held true of the extensive Salisbury Mills, New York. Part of the town of Greenwich, Conn., had been lighted with petroleum gas two years, and the experiment had proved a grand success.

Several large cities were soon to be lighted in this way. Among these was Rochester, where it would be applied this month, while the necessary works were now going up at Troy. He had also completed three important contracts of this kind, one of them for lighting part of Boston. Cities in the Oil Regions were also soon to be lighted with petroleum gas. This gas could be used for lighting railway cars, as it might be compressed in cylinders and rendered available anywhere, which was not the case with coal gas.

PRODUCT OF ONE BARREL.

One barrel of petroleum would make 4,000 feet of gas of eighteen candle power equal to the light of 320,000 standard English sperm candles. Nine thousand cubic feet was the maximum of gas obtainable from a ton of coal, and that of only fourteen candle power, so called, though really equal to but eleven candles. Thus at the best a ton of coal costing on an average $7, produced a light equivalent to 126,000 candles, while a barrel of oil, nearly three times as much, at one third the cost.

THE GAS WORKS REQUIRED.

In regard to refitting existing gas works to adapt them to use petroleum instead of coal, the expense would be less than two per cent on the original cost of the works. New petroleum gas works could be erected at an outlay of less than one-fifth the amount needed to build works for coal gas. The former required no purifiers, stand-pipes, exhausters, and other costly apparatus incidental to the latter, and the process of manufacture was much simpler and cheaper. The same street mains and leading pipes would do for the use of petroleum gas, only a change of burners being necessary in this direction. No new pipes were required, and less than one-tenth the space occupied for works. The apparatus could be set up in one corner of the coal gas works, the retorts, fires and the burners changed, and everything was complete. There was no trouble in procuring any amount of capital to render the plan a magnificent success.

A LITTLE TEST.

[Here Captain Butler put a cylinder filled with gas and applied a match to the meter. The flame burned with intense brilliancy, giving a light of sixteen-candle power, though consuming only one cubic foot of gas per hour. The exhibition was loudly applauded.]

It was further alleged petroleum gas would condense under extreme pressure at a high temperature. The gas in the cylinder just used had been forced in at a pressure of three hundred and twenty-four and a half pounds to the square inch, and exposed to a temperature of thirteen degrees below zero without one drop of condensation, while coal gas would condense freely at two hundred and thirty pounds pressure. One objection sometimes urged against petroleum gas was that it would smoke. Coal gas would do so more readily.

THE EXPECTED DEMAND.

New York, Williamsburg and Jersey City alone required fifty-five million feet of gas a day, equal to the product of three thousand barrels of petroleum, or more than the entire surplus of the oil regions at any time. To supply the cities of the United States would require one hundred thousand barrels daily, and with proper effort on the part of the producers at least one tenth of this vast trade might speedily be secured.

Captain Butler then went into figures and statistics, from which he argued that as petroleum gas must soon come into general use, all the product of the oil regions would hardly supply the demand, and hence those owners of oil territory who "held on" were wise.

The speech has attracted considerable attention in the oil regions.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

J. C. Howard, of New York, filed a petition asking that W. J. Dalton, of Scranton, Pa., be adjudged a bankrupt. The usual order was made.

Robert Luhr and Magdalena Krus were indicted for assault and battery on Peter Luhr. A verdict of guilty was rendered.

Joseph Malatesta was next placed on trial for an assault and battery, on oath of Elizabeth M. Riley. A verdict of not guilty was rendered and the costs divided.

The body was recovered yesterday, and at the inquest, "accidental drowning" was the verdict returned. The boy's mother, who is a widow, lives in the Fifth ward, Allegheny.

····Yesterday morning, about six o'clock, a burglar attempted to enter the back door of the U. P. Board of Publication room, No. 55 Ninth street. A hatchet and an iron bar were the implements used, but the noise he made attracted attention before he had effected his object, and when he saw he was discovered he beat a hasty retreat.

····John and Winnie James, the persons who were arrested on Sunday night on the South Side for being implicated in the affray in which Mrs. Bridget Funk received such a severe beating about the head had a hearing yesterday morning before Deputy Mayor Heisel and in default of $2,000 each were committed to jail for trial at court.

····The party which accompanies the Governor to-day to lay the corner stone of the new Reform School building at Morganza will be served with a luncheon on the ground; the absence of any public building and other conveniences has obliged the managers to make preparations for only a limited number of visitors. Invitations have accordingly been issued to the number to which the guests are unavoidably limited.

····Yesterday afternoon, a lady, at the Connellsville depot employed an expressman to take her trunk to Allegheny. The driver was instructed to go across the suspension bridge and up Federal street two squares, and wait for the owner. The driver obeyed, and waited for some time, and as no one put in an appearance, the trunk was taken to the Mayor's office, where the owner can find it.

····The funeral of Captain Robert Greenlee took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence in Allegheny, and was very largely attended. Captain Greenlee was in the eighty third year of his age, and was widely known among river men. He commenced life as a keelboatman—passed through the various grades until he became one of the most noted masters on Western waters, and was held in high esteem. All the flags on the boats at our wharves yesterday were at half mast as a tribute to his memory.

····Public expectation was aroused yesterday by a wild rumor to the effect that the First Ward Election case was to receive its final quietus in Council, but it did not prove so. A report was prepared, quite voluminously setting forth irregularities in the election, but exonerating all parties from intentional fraud, yet recommending a new election. It was a pity to spoil so much paper, and then not have the report duly signed, but such was the case. Chairman Chalmers, however, is still serene, and thinks there is time enough yet for all parties to agree.

····The building whose corner-stone will be laid at Morganza this day, is the main building or the chief one of several buildings contemplated by the "family system," so called, to be introduced for the first time in Pennsylvania. The Morganza farm consists of 560 acres, and is one of the finest farms in the State—peculiarly adapted for the juvenile labor to be employed in its future cultivation. We are glad that Gov. Hartranft will have an opportunity to examine the farm and all the plans for its improvement and future use, and so form an enlighted judgment of the whole project. We shall be much disappointed if they do not commend themselves to his hearty approval.

····The "Handbook of the Central Presbyterian Church, Allegheny," Rev. W. H. Gill, pastor, has been laid upon our table. It is a pamphlet printed for the use of the congregation, and contains a full history of the church from the date of its organization. Then there is a record of the past and present officers, of the management of the church, the different departments, with offices, a full list of the membership, with the residences of each family, remarks on the duties of each officer and member, a record of the meetings, scripture selections, &c., closing with the farewell letter of a former pastor, Rev. Dr. Plumer. The book is something new for these parts, although such publications are known in the East. It is handsomely gotten up by Mr. John Ogden, the well known Allegheny job printer, and forms an interesting souvenir for every member of the church.

····The Penn avenue Baptist Church (East End) has extended an unanimous call to Rev. J. D. Herr of Oil City at a salary of $2,500 00 for the first year. Mr. Herr has signified his acceptance and will begin his labors there about the first of October, when the new church edifice now in contemplation is expected to be fairly under way. This building will be one of the neatest in this part of the country. The size of the house will be 80ft.x71ft—73 feet in height. Style—gothic, highly ornamental. The interior arrangement will be peculiar and unique, special attention being paid to accoustics, and the comfort of the audience. The auditorium will be circular in form, something like Library Hall, with a seating capacity of 800. Galleries, Lecture room, parlors, &c., will be furnished conveniently for all branches of Church worship. The cost of the building is not yet estimated.

COUNCIL OF COAL MINERS.

The Convention To-day.

At ten o'clock this morning the coal miners of the county will hold a convention in their hall, in the English building, Fourth avenue, to consider the question of wages and other matters of deep interest to themselves, upon which they and the operators have failed to agree. The matter of equalizing the pay for mining coal in the river and railroad banks will also come up for discussion. It is asked that the miners agree upon a certain price and adhere to it. The miners propose to work harmoniously and say that their propositions to the operators shall not be unreasonable, but they intimate that their rights will be firmly demanded. Nearly all the miners along the railroads are out, though in many mines along the river work is still progressing. One of the main objects of to-day's meeting is to unite these two classes, so that they may present a strong force if a strike is decided upon. The following Executive Committee has been appointed by the miners to call a delegate convention to meet at the Court House, August 2d, for the purpose of nominating a full Senatorial and Legislative county ticket: W. D. Woolslayer, M. H. Harper, Joseph Stewart, Thos. Smith, John McBroom, Wm. Henry, A. G. Thoburn, John Dixon, W. A. Sims, Wm. Smith and J. Freck; Representative of the International Society. Among those nominated for the Senate are J. Morrison Coates, editor of the Labor Tribune, and Messrs. M. D. Harper, J. Palmer and John Dixon are mentioned as Legislative candidates.

IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY BLOOD.

Every drop of blood that circulates through the veins eventually becomes a solid particle of the body. Flesh, bone and muscle are merely solidified blood, and upon the quality of the blood depends the condition of the whole physical system. Unless the liquid material by which the human substance is renewed and sustained is pure and nutritious it is impossible that the body can be healthy and strong. One of the most important properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is that of improving the condition of the vital fluid when infected or impoverished. Acting directly and powerfully upon the stomach, in which the manufacture of the blood is commenced, and upon the liver which secretes a fluid next in importance to the stream of life itself this powerful vegetable tonic and depurent has an immense indirect influence upon the circulation. Hence the extraordinary cures wrought by the Bitters in cases of general debility, malarious fevers, rheumatism, biliousness, constipation, &c.
